Allied Ground Forces Report
488 Viet Cong Killed in Operation

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. warplanes hammered at targets in North Viet Nam again today, while on the ground, American and Allied forces caught the Viet Cong in a desperate effort to escape.

In addition to the 488 dead giant vial along South Viet Nam's coastal plains and sent them sprawling into retreat after 488 were reported killed.

An Air Force spokesman said three American planes — one Air Force and two Navy jets — were lost in the first day of air attacks on the Communist North after the 37-day bombing pause. There were no details yet on the second day of the raids.

The pilots of the two Navy planes were rescued, but the pilot of an Air Force F105 Thunderchief was missing about 20 miles south of Vinh. He pulled into cloud cover and disappeared. Rescue efforts were called off after a search, the spokesman said.

Hanoi Claim
Radio Hanoi claimed Monday that North Vietnamese gunners had downed five American planes and damaged 10 others.

As U. S. Air Force and Navy carrier planes roared over the north again, the combined allied Operation Masher in the rice fields and jungles 290 miles northeast of Saigon smashed at a large Viet Cong force from three sides. Some of the guerril-

Air Force Men Fly to Counter Squatter Band

Negro Group Spends Night on Inactive Military Base

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP) — The Air Force flew 100 officers and airmen into its deactivated Greenville base early today to counter an invasion by a band of Negro squatters.

"We will secure the base from further demonstrators," said Maj. George Hennrikus, an Air Force information officer. "Under no circumstances will our men be equipped with weapons."

The Negroes, along with a few white civil rights workers, camped around two pot-bellied stoves through the night in a determined bid to make their capture of an abandoned building force special antipolice help from the federal government.

The Negroes said they were hungry and had no jobs or land.

Bolsters Staff
The Air Force contingent, flown in from five bases, bolstered Lt. Col. George Andrews, the only Air Force officer on the base, and his 27 civilians.

Most of the Air Force troops were air policemen. There were also some medical personnel. Asked if the Air Force would use force in dealing with the squatters, Hennrikus said no men would be armed. "They will be equipped with billy clubs."

The band, chiefly Negroes, forced their way onto deactivated Greenville Air Force Base Monday despite the objections of civilian guards, who said later they were caught by surprise.

State Court Clarifies Rule On Warrants

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Supreme Court said today that its November decision stripping district attorneys of authority to issue warrants could not be applied to cases already "finalized."

The court issued its clarifying decision in two cases of original jurisdiction. It ordered two Milwaukee judges involved to proceed with suits in their courts — one criminal and one civil — under writs of mandamus issued by the high court.

The court ruled in November that warrants must be issued by "The equivalent of a neutral and detached magistrate." The decision reversed a ruling by Milwaukee County Judge William F. Moser in a paternity complaint by Willie Lee White Justice Horace Wilkie wrote both high court decisions and said.

The basic purpose of the White ruling was to improve police practices and to assure bright's call for long-term aid authority. The Arkansas Democrat also has pushed for a separation of economic and military aid legislation.

Johnson Requests 5-Year Aid Okay

President's Message Seeks Split In Assistance to Foreign Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for five-year authority for foreign aid and proposed that the global program be split into separate economic and arms aid bills.

In a special message seeking $3.39 billion in new aid funds for next year, Johnson also spelled out a $1-billion program of food, education and health assistance abroad.

"I propose that the United States offer to join in new attacks upon the root causes of world poverty," the President told the legislators.

"The incessant cycle of hunger, ignorance, and disease is the common blight of the developing world. This vicious pattern can be broken. It must be broken, if democracy is to survive."

Johnson said the large-scale foreign aid program is necessary for the same reasons as his "Great Society" program inside the United States.

He said the aim is to improve

Columnist Dies at 75 Of Pneumonia

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movie gossip columnist Hedda Hopper, 75, died today of pneumonia.

The former actress succumbed in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where she was taken Sunday. Her condition had worsened after she contracted a virus infection last Friday.

The Pennsylvania farm girl who danced, acted, tatted and mad-hatted her way to journalistic fame was one of Hollywood's two gossip queens.

The other, Louella Parsons, is ailing in a movie colony rest home.

Her career as a columnist began on radio in 1936 — and continued even after ill health immobilized her three years ago.

Born Ida Furry in Hollandsburg, Pa., in 1890 as one of nine children of Quaker parents, Miss Hopper ran away to New York City at age 18 to become an actress.

She Watches Buffalo, Not Shy Groundhogs

CHIPPewa FALLS (AP) — Tomorrow's groundhog day, and if your feelings about this winter's weather are such that you'd like to go with something that has a little more muscle than a scrawny woodchuck, take a tip from Mrs. Frank La Cour.

She watches buffalo.

Mrs. La Cour, a sprightly lady in her seventies, has found that year in and year out, groundhogs are a timorous lot likely to be afraid of their shadows, regardless of whether the weather is going to be fair or foul for the ensuing six weeks.

A genuine American bison

bull, on the other hand, is not likely to be cowed by the shadows of anything up to five fellows on horseback, and not then unless they're carrying bows and arrows.

Mrs. La Cour's system evolved with the development of a buffalo herd at Irvine Park, near her home. For eight years in a row, now, she says when the animals come out into the open on a slope within her view, spring is on the way.

This year, however, it will take buffalos that are tall as well as brave. Snow drifts in the neighborhood still are up to three feet deep.

Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., left, Monday, after handing over a request from President Johnson for an urgent meeting of the Security Council on the Viet Nam conflict and to use its "immense prestige to find a prompt solution to it." ### Await United Nations Debate

Fulbright Committee Won't Press LBJ Viet Nam Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright said today his committee will not press its inquiries into President Johnson's Viet Nam policy until the United Nations voiced no optimism about the prospects it would win peace. "I do not think it is likely to be successful," Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., said of the new administration move.

McCarthy contended no case had been made for the resumption of bombing in the North. Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., among the most outspoken foes of renewed raids on North Viet Nam, said the Foreign Relations Committee should meet morning and night to hear administration testimony about Southeast Asia.

But Fulbright said the administration should have ample time to pursue peace through the United Nations, "a course many of us have been urging for months."

"Dead Wrong"
Morse, who said Johnson was "dead wrong" in ordering renewed bombing, has introduced a resolution calling for a full-scale Senate investigation of administration foreign policy on Viet Nam.

Rusk faced Senate questioning Friday when he went before the Foreign Relations Committee to seek a $415-million emergency aid appropriation. Most of it earmarked for South Viet Nam.

The Senate Armed Services Committee put off until Wednesday another appearance by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on Johnson's request

Reconciliation Planned

Actor Kills Rooney's Wife, Takes Own Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The planned reconciliation of Mickey Rooney and his fifth wife has resulted in her murder and the suicide of the young Yugoslav actor accused by Rooney of being her lover.

The bodies of Barbara Thomson Rooney, 29, and Milos Milosevic, 25 (an actor known professionally as Miles Miles), were found Monday in the bathroom of the $150,000 Brentwood home Rooney once shared with his wife and four young children.

Police theorized that Milosevic shot Mrs. Rooney, then turned the 38-caliber pistol on himself because she was planning to resume her marriage with the diminutive actor.

Under Sedation

Rooney himself was under sedation at St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica, being treated for an intestinal infection acquired during filming in the Philippines.

Said Rooney's manager, Red Doff, "Mickey told me they'd had good talk and they were very close to reconciliation. I think Miles may have resented it."

This apparently triggered the acts of violence by Milosevic, she began to succumb to his whose divorced wife had asked

Resolution Before U.N. Council Would Include Saigon, Hanoi Delegates

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States proposed today that both North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam be invited to take part in U.N. discussions on a conference to seek peace in Viet Nam.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg told the Security Council that he believed it would be useful to have representatives of Saigon and Hanoi appear during current council debate.

The U.S. delegate took the floor as the 15-nation council met to consider a U.S. proposal of the Vietnamese people as a whole. Goldberg put the Viet Nam conflict before the council late Monday in a resolution which asked that a peace and date be Turn to Page 6, Col. 5

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union today objected to a U.S. request for United Nations action on the Viet Nam conflict. It called the U.S. move a diversionary tactic designed to hide plans to expand the war.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko addressed the U.N. Security Council immediately after U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg had urged U.N. efforts to set up a Viet Nam peace conference. Goldberg proposed that both North and South Viet Nam be invited to take part in council discussions.

The Soviet delegate declared that he would oppose any council action.

for preliminary talks on arranging a Viet Nam peace conference.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko declined to tell newsmen in advance of the session whether he would oppose council debate.

Resolutions Invalid
U.N. diplomats, however, noted a Soviet news agency dispatch from Hanoi quoting the North Vietnamese government as declaring it would consider any Security Council resolutions as invalid.

Goldberg explained in detail U.S. reasons for bringing the Viet Nam problem to the United Nations. He said President Johnson had acted after every other effort had failed to bring about peace negotiations.

"Our resort to the Security Council, despite what anyone may say or speculate about it," he said, "is only a simple further evidence of our resolve to settle this conflict peaceably, a resolve that stems from a deep and abiding belief that a negotiated settlement rather than a military solution is obviously to the best interest

Police Fund Will Retain $337 Sent To Tippet Widow

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Board members of the Dallas Police-men's and Firemen's Welfare Fund have decided to keep $337.73 sent to the widow of Patrolman J. D. Tippet "until she asked for it."

Tippet was the policeman shot to death by Lee Harvey Oswald a few minutes after the assassin killed President John F. Kennedy, Nov. 22, 1963.

Assistant City Auditor C. F. Craig said Monday that since disbursement of the Tippet money had to be done through court order, the fund would retain $337.73 until she asked for it or until it grows to where we ask the court to take it over."

Craig said Mrs. Tippet had received more than $656,000 from donors from all over the country.

Bomb Threat Delays

Queen, Philip Begin Caribbean Tour

By COLIN FROST LONDON (AP) — After a 29-minute delay due to a false American tour in Miami March bomb alarm, Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip took off today for a five-week tour of Commonwealth territories in the sunny Caribbean.

Philip will go on to the United States to seek a million dollars for charity and more trade for Britain.

Just before the queen and her husband were to board their jetliner, an anonymous caller telephoned London Airport that a bomb was aboard the plane.

The couple waited in the royal lounge while security men searched the plane, but no bomb was found.

The caller was a woman who said "Bomb on board the queen's VC10," then hung up.

"The queen and Prince Philip seemed quite unconcerned and continued to talk to the official party while they were waiting," an official said.

Sunshine

After weeks of bleak cold, the weatherman gave the queen a sprinkle sendoff. A bright sun bathed the airport and the temperature was 52 degrees.

The tour will take the royal couple to Jamaica, Trinidad and Tobago and 12 British territories in the area, including restless British Guiana.

For the first leg of their journey, the queen and Philip were flying by super VC10, the rear-engine jet British Overseas Airways Corp. uses for intercontinental flights.

The royal plane was to refuel in Gander, Nfld., then fly to Barbados. There the queen and her husband will board the royal yacht Britannia and sail to British Guiana, where the tour officially begins Friday.

Bed-Making Made Easier With New No-Iron Sheets

A well-made bed adds to your sleeping comfort and requires much less upkeep between changes. Smooth soft sheets, of course, are a great bonus, and a new introduction to the domestic scene will please the most practical of housekeepers. It's a 'no-iron' percale sheet.

For those who do not ordinarily iron their sheets or send them out to the laundry, the new 'no-iron' blend of Fortrel polyester and cotton makes bed-making a breeze—with no more tugging and pulling to hide tell-tale wrinkles. It can be machine washed at high temperatures, tumble-dried and returned to the bed or folded and put away in the closet.

For young marrieds, or for that matter old bachelors who may not be used to this important daily chore, here are a few tips on bed-making that can assure more comfort and less upkeep between changes.

If you're using flat sheets, smooth out the mattress pad and carefully center the bottom sheet. Start your tucking (about 10 inches) at the bottom of the bed, and pull sheet taut and smooth, then tuck in at the top of the bed. 'Wetted or hospital' corners hold the bedding more securely and require less time in the long run. Just fold up the selvage edge of your sheet about 12 inches from the foot of the bed, then again from the head. Tuck the triangular ends under the mattress first, then fold under the sheet sides.

Put on top sheet and blankets making sure they are lined up with the head of the bed, and then miter-fold the corners at the foot of the bed. Top sheet should turn down over blankets about eight to ten inches to keep blankets clean and to keep them away from the sleeper's face. Tucking in at the sides is a matter of personal preference. Some like the sleeping bag effect, while others prefer to have their bedding hang loose.

When using fitted bottom sheets, start at top of the bed, smoothly. Smooth and gently pull down to bottom corners, and slip over the corners. Follow normal pattern for top sheet.

Blankets and tucking-in

For longer wear-life, it's a good idea to reverse head and foot order of sheets every other time you use them. Remember too that some bleaches are hard on fibers and care should be taken to use only proper amounts in the wash. Put freshly laundered sheets at the bottom of the pile in your linen closet so that all your sheets receive equal wear.

Begin at Bottom for Clean Walls

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
Q: Is it true that when you wash walls, you must work upward, not washing downward?
A: Quite true. Work in sections, starting at the bottom. As you go upward, keep the part you washed continuously wet. This will prevent streaking from the areas being washed above. If you ever started the job at the top, you'd never do it again. You'd quickly find that when dirty water trickles down on the dry, still-unwashed areas below it will leave streaks nearly impossible to remove.

Q: I'd like to change the deep brown varnish on my piano to a modern blond shade. Will any such change in finish affect the tone of the piano? Or would an opaque finish, such as enamel?
A: To the best of my knowledge, there'd be no effect whatsoever. It would sound just as good, depending on who's playing.

Q: The reason our basement is too warm is the heat given off by the steam pipes leading from the furnace to upstairs. Could I insulate by covering them with asbestos cement?
A: You could do this, but this material should not be applied until the pipes are stone cold. This would mean waiting for the end of the heating season. Instead, you could cover them with cylindrical jackets of asbestos. These come in two-part, facing sections which fit over the pipe, secured by metal bands. These are available at plumbing supply dealers. You'll find they will not only cut down on heat wasted in the basement, but help lower your fuel bill.

Q: A few months ago I touched up some small chipped places on my gas stove. At first it looked fine. But some time later the white metal enamel began to turn brown. What went wrong?
A: Your technique was fine, but you used the wrong type of touch-up enamel. Regular enamel will discolor under heat. Instead, use a special porcelain stove repairing enamel-type finish, which is formulated to stay white, regardless of heat. I suggest your first removing the metal enamel, using paint remover.

Q: A few months ago I touched up some small chipped places on my gas stove. At first it looked fine. But some time later the white metal enamel began to turn brown. What went wrong?
A: Your technique was fine, but you used the wrong type of touch-up enamel. Regular enamel will discolor under heat. Instead, use a special porcelain stove repairing enamel-type finish, which is formulated to stay white, regardless of heat. I suggest your first removing the metal enamel, using paint remover.

Q: The reason our basement is too warm is the heat given off by the steam pipes leading from the furnace to upstairs. Could I insulate by covering them with asbestos cement?
A: You could do this, but this material should not be applied until the pipes are stone cold. This would mean waiting for the end of the heating season. Instead, you could cover them with cylindrical jackets of asbestos. These come in two-part, facing sections which fit over the pipe, secured by metal bands. These are available at plumbing supply dealers. You'll find they will not only cut down on heat wasted in the basement, but help lower your fuel bill.

Your Problems

Widow, 43, Hesitant to Try For Second Marriage, Family

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The answer to my problem is probably clear to everyone but me. I may be reaching for the moon, but when you want something desperately, it's not easy to think clearly.

I have been a widow for ten years and have two children. I never dreamed I'd be lucky enough to find love a second time. The man is exactly my age, 43. He has never been married and he wants a family. Am I out of my mind to be thinking of a second family at my age? If you say it is best that he marry someone younger, I will stop seeing him. Someone must tell me. Please be the one. — Too Late?

Dear Too Late? — The only way to find out for sure whether you can have a family is to marry him and see.

Some men who marry girls in their 20s find that their wives cannot have children. If they are wise they adopt. Adopted children will be as dear to you and to him as the children you might have had. So go, girl, and good luck. Don't pass up this chance for happiness.

protect the couple who wrote "Next time I'll use Murgarood and Zurline — and then I'll probably get a beef from them."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a high school junior, aged 17.

and madly in love with my history teacher. Please don't tell me it is puppy love. I am not a puppy. I am a human being.

The teacher is 32 years old, married and has three children. To make matters worse, he doesn't know I exist. Half the time he calls me by another girl's name. Whenever I correct him he apologizes with, "I'm sorry, but Henrietta sat in that seat last semester." Please don't say this is infatuation or I'll scream. Compared to him high school boys look like babies. I'd rather stay home and think about my secret love than go out with the captain of the football team.

I dread graduation. How can I do well in college when this man is on my mind constantly? Help me. — Frustrated and Heart sick

Dear Fru: Your "illness" is common among both high school girls and boys. It is called "Crushonicachertis."

You'll recover — probably at graduation time. Until then, spend less time in the dream world and get back to reality. It may not be as much fun but it's healthier and more practical.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1966)

FINDINGS: When sewing on synthetics such as nylon, orlon and dacron, you must use synthetic thread. If they are blended with cotton, use either nylon or fast-color mercerized cotton thread. For acetate or rayon fabrics, use silk thread. LININGS: I don't recommend lining washable garments, because it is unlikely that both outside and lining fabrics have the same percentage of shrinkage. However, if you do line, be sure the garment is completely washable. Nylon or orlon taffeta are satisfactory linings. TAPES AND BIAS BINDINGS: Fast-color cotton products will machine-wash beautifully. Even if you are fully instructed, when choosing zippers, carefully match zipper tape to the fabric. Even though the tapes are fast-color, excess dye may

Fanciful Approach Adds Flourishes To Kitchen Tasks

Fruit fritters — apple, plum, pineapple, peach, orange — taste wonderful with batter-fried chicken. Just use some of the chicken batter for the fruit. When canned plums, pineapple slices or peach halves are used, they should be thoroughly drained before dipping in the batter.

Mincing dried onion has dozens of uses for quick cooks: one of the best of them is adding the onion to hamburger meat.

Serve nutritious raw cabbage slaws often to your family, but vary this salad by adding vegetables and fruit — carrot, green pepper, tomato, pineapple, apple.

If you are weight watching, here's a reminder: fruit and cottage cheese plus melba toast make a satisfying lunch. If you like, you can use low-calorie canned fruit and low-calorie commercial cottage cheese.

Today's new fibers need special care and you should never attempt to wash them without instructions. Even if you are fully instructed, when choosing zippers, carefully match zipper tape to the fabric. Even though the tapes are fast-color, excess dye may bleed. Always close a zipper before washing. BELTS: In making a washable belt, first check the belt kit to be sure that backing, buckle and eyelets are washable. HOME FURNISHINGS: Cotton, linen, washable silk and natural fibers will take high water temperatures if white or pastel, but deep tones and brilliant prints may bleed. Always wash deeper tones separately the first time, in warm water, until all excess dye is removed.

Synthetics should be washed in warm suds and rinsed thoroughly. Don't leave them in the dryer until they are bone dry or you'll bake the wrinkles. In Fiberglass and nylon curtains should be hung on windows when still damp so wrinkles will "pull" out as they dry. Slip covers should be put back on furniture while still slightly damp, and all seams and flat surfaces smoothed.

Patricia Scott has prepared a booklet, How to Alter Your Dress Patterns, which gives complete instructions for alterations so that finished garments will fit perfectly. For your copy of this guide to correct fitting, write to Patricia Scott in care of The Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover costs of printing and handling.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters. (Copyright, 1966)

Child's Readiness For School Tested

Is your child ready to enter school? He's not ready if he cannot accomplish the 30 basic things school's expect of youngsters before entering the first grade. Mothers can measure up their children to these basic requirements by answering a series of 30 questions compiled by a publisher of books for young people to help parents evaluate their child's preparation for school. The questions were listed by educational consultants in conjunction with a series of books designed to help pre-school age children prepare for their first classes.

By Phone Company in Appleton

Invests $1 Million in 1965

The Wisconsin Telephone Co. investment in Appleton soared a million dollars during 1965, according to Richard C. Van Sistine, local telephone manager.

The 1965 investment value totaled $17,308,000. Van Sistine said, compared with $16,329,000 in 1964. Among the major programs which added to the investment were cable and central office equipment installed to meet the city's growing communications needs and establishment of extended area service between Appleton and Shiocton.

Telephones Triple

Van Sistine noted the firm's local investment has increased eight-fold since the end of World War II. In 1945, the investment was $1,850,000. A decade later, in 1955, the figure was $7,800,000.

The number of telephones has more than tripled in the past 26 years, according to Van Sistine. In 1945 there were 11,400 telephones here. By 1955, the total had risen to 22,000 and, at the close of 1965 the total was 36,839.

Spurring the city's telephone growth in the past 20 years have been the introduction of dial service in 1928 and establishment of direct-distance-dialing long distance service in 1962. Direct distance-dialing represented a $2 million investment.

The telephone company employed 580 persons here in 1965, Van Sistine reported, compared with 576 in the previous year. The annual payroll was up approximately $100,000 — $3,675,000 last year, compared with $3,567,000 in 1964.

Extended Area Service

Extended area service between Appleton and Shiocton added another link to the Fox Cities area telephone communications network. Van Sistine said. Toll-free EAS calling also exists between Appleton, Neenah-Menasha, Black Creek, Little Chute, Kaukauna, Hortonville and Sherwood.

Appleton's share of the Wisconsin Telephone Co.'s state gross revenue tax, paid in lieu of property tax, was $107,410 last year, up from $102,000 in 1964.

The company's contributions to local charitable organizations last year totaled $13,069, Van Sistine said.

Seeks Parley With Wolf Commission

The Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission should pursue its plan to have Outagamie and Winnebago Counties become members of the organization on a group of policymakers said Monday.

At the same time, members of the commission's policy committee who met at the Appleton City Hall recommended the executive committee hold a meeting with the executive board of the Wolf River Regional Planning Commission as soon as possible.

The recommendation last week that the counties take out memberships in the Fox Valley commission ran into protest and criticism from Gordon Bubolz, chairman of the Wolf River group.

Disputes Bubolz Claim

However, as the Fox Valley's policy group was meeting Monday, Mayor John Klein of Menasha said he took sharp issue with some claims by Bubolz.

Klein, a member of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission's executive committee said, "Now is the time to include the counties in the Valley regional planning unit."

Members of the policy committee—Laurel Heaney, Town of Neenah, chairman; Mayor Clarence Mitchell, Appleton; Ed Spierings, Little Chute; and Norbert Rhinerson, Kaukauna—were agreed that "gray areas" existing between the Fox Valley and Wolf River Commissions should be clearly delineated.

The committee discussed the current controversy with Donald Colburn, Neenah, vice chairman of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

It was the general feeling of the policy committee that it

$200,000 of Issue Totaling $660,000 Held for Future

Sewage revenue bonds amounting to $660,000 for the Butte des Morts Utility District have been sold by the Town of Grand Chute, Thomas Thorson, town chairman, said today. The Grand Chute board authorized $660,000 in bonds, $200,000 in shell bonds to be held until needed to expand the system.

Construction of a sewage disposal plant and the sewage mains in the utility district, located in the southwest corner of the town, now is underway.

Start of operation is contemplated in August or September, Thorson said, when residents should be prepared to hook up to the sewer mains. A public hearing will be held within the next couple of months to answer all questions about the utility district, the chairman said.

Thorson and Leslie Woldt, town clerk, will go to Madison soon to sign the bonds and collect the $660,000. The money will be invested to earn interest until it is needed to pay construction accounts.

Harley, Haydon & Co., Madison, is the underwriter of the bond issue and Appleton State Bank is the paying agent.

Chinese Fear Of War With U. S. Increasing

But Leadership Doesn't Want Any Kremlin Support

By WILLIAM L. RAY
AP Special Correspondent

Red China's professed fear of war with America is beginning to sound more genuine as reflecting fear that Peking will provoke a U.S. attack — and perhaps a nuclear attack.

All the evidence indicates China expects that the United States sooner or later must get out of Viet Nam, and that in the long run the Communists will dominate all of China. It does not want to pay a heavy price yet the Peking leadership seems afraid the United States eventually will run out of patience.

Thus apprehension may account for notes of anger and frustration in pronouncements from Peking which suggest the Chinese leadership feels isolated and in danger. Indeed there are hints that some elements of the Chinese armed forces sought a measure of insurance by means of an approach to Moscow toward reconciliation, so that Moscow's nuclear power might serve as a protection.

If there was such a move, it failed. The Chinese Communist party again has slammed the door, blowing the whistle on any among the Red army brass who might have been thinking that way.

Watches Debates

Peking has been paying strict attention to the debates going on in Washington between the "hawks and doves." It expects the "hawks" to prevail and to see the war in Viet Nam extended to Laos and perhaps all of Indochina. It seemingly would consider any U.S. movement in that direction to be an immediate threat to China's own security.

Even if the Chinese leaders, feel alone and in danger, they will have none of the Russians. A statement read to a Chinese armed forces conference on political work warned against the "erosion of revisionism and bourgeois ideology of all descriptions" and reasserted the "absolute leadership of the party over the army."

Revisionism is the Chinese epithet for a Soviet policy which Peking now says aggravates the chances of a Chinese-American war because the Soviet leaders, in its view, are busy engaged in helping "the U.S. imperialists."

The statement, delivered by Hsiao Hua, director of the army's general political department, emphasized principles laid down by Defense Minister Lin Biao on how the armed forces should be run.

No Soviet Help

Lin, while primarily a military man, is the Communist party's top representative in the armed forces. He has thus passed the word that the party will not stand for any attempt by any military element to make policy or to hold out a tentative hand to the Russians. Lin succeeded Peng Teh Huai as defense minister in 1959, after Peng had advocated making up with Moscow and reliance on Soviet military-technical help.

A dominating theme in Peking propaganda is the danger of war. As a broadcast in the Cantonese language put it, "We are planning all our tasks on the basis of the assumption that U.S. imperialism will forcibly impose a war on us."

Peking accuses Moscow of collaborating with other countries in "a new anti-China campaign." So far as the Chinese leaders are concerned, "the Russians are guilty of what Peking calls 'the three shams'." Those are sham opposition to imperialism, sham support for world revolution and sham unity.

War Class Struggle

Peking contends the Soviet leaders forget that war is the highest form of class struggle and a continuation of politics. The Russians, in the Peking view, should be all-out supporters of all revolutionary wars. Instead, the Chinese imply, Moscow is leaving them alone with whatever risks are involved in pursuing the highest form of class struggle in which China is opposed by the United States.

Armed with the thinking of Mao Tse tung, China's linked with the people throughout the country and throughout the world, we shall be more than a match for such a thing as U.S. imperialism and final victory certainly will be ours.

This sort of wolf-at-the-door talks could have several purposes. One might be to provide an excuse to get more production with less complaint out of the Chinese people. Another might be to bolster Peking's own morale and confidence in the face of the nightmare it has conjured up for itself.

Menasha May Sponsor Area Meeting to Discuss CATV

Community Antenna Franchise Question Throughout Fox Cities

MENASHA — The common council indicated it will support a suggestion Monday that Menasha sponsor a Fox Cities-wide meeting of all municipal officials involved in granting franchises for community antenna television (CATV).

Ald. William Erickson proposed the meeting at the committee of the whole meeting yesterday because, he said, many applications have been filed throughout the Fox Cities and it has become "an area problem."

It is possible that one master antenna could best serve all the area municipalities, he pointed out. If efficiencies result because of elimination of overlapping systems, the savings could be turned over to the consumer, he said.

Council to Act

The council will act on the suggestion for sponsoring the meeting tonight.

The council has referred all requests for franchises to a special study committee on CATV. The four-man committee has requested that no action be taken for a six-month period. In that time there is a possibility the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) will pass new regulations on CATV, Mayor John Klein pointed out.

More Applications

The city has received two more applications for exclusive franchises, bringing the total to seven firms interested in coming into Menasha.

These firms would string coaxial cable from a master antenna to the homes of subscribers at a cost of some $4 to $7 per month.

The additional firms are See-

They are Gwendolyn, 16; Jennifer, 15; Beverly, 12; Brenda, 10; Barbara, 9; Herbert, 8; Belinda, 5; and Bonita, 18 months.

Uncle Sam Goofs Married Nurses Get Letters in New Army Recruiting Drive

The rumor mill has it that Uncle Sam is turning wife-stealer.

But it's all for a good cause even though the Department of the Army did goof a bit.

In recent months, women throughout the Fox Cities who hold nursing degrees have been getting "Dear Nurse" letters from the U.S. Army Recruiting station at Milwaukee.

Capt. Dorothy J. Koch, the letter-writer, says an all-out recruiting drive is underway to get nurses to join the U.S. Army Nurse Corps or Reserves.

However, there's been one "Catch" The letters have gone out to married gals with families.

And, married nurses with children under 18 years of age are not eligible to join the Corps, thus ruling out quite a few Florence Nightingales in the Fox Cities.

The Army Nurse Corps should appeal to the single girl who hasn't really decided on a career. You can qualify for an officer's commission in the Army Nurse Corps if you are between 20 and 35 years of age.

Diploma Necessary

One required credential is that you must have graduated from a school of nursing offering a diploma or degree, and be registered to practice nursing in one state of the United States or Puerto Rico.

The Army permits women officers to be married or to marry while in military service. Women officers are not appointed or retained who have dependents under 18 years of age.

Single status is required for participation in any of the student financial assistance programs in the case of women; however, this policy is not applicable to men.

Male Nurses Too

Yes, since 1955 qualified male nurses have been appointed as reservists in the Army Nurse Corps, which was established in 1901 as part of the Army Medical Service and is the oldest of the women's services of the Armed Forces.

Army nurses serve in ranks from second lieutenant to colonel, based upon qualifications and length of service.

Initial appointments in the Army Nurse Corps are made in the rank of second lieutenant, first lieutenant or captain.

The last date for the council to pass on the referendum proposal stating cost of the project is March 15.

The council must approve the referendum by a three-quarters vote at a regular meeting of the council.

"There is a definite need at this point for clear delineation of the areas and to define the jurisdiction of both commissions," commented Eugene Franchett, executive director.

"Any time there is a duplication of services, it is not in the public interest. This we should be concerned about," Franchett added.

Mayor Mitchell moved that the Fox Valley Commission's executive committee meet next week and request a party with the Wolf River group. "There is too much at stake here to exchange words," Mitchell said.

Culbren felt Onagamie and Winnebago Counties could support both commissions.

The committee said there was no intention of reversing policy and that it would continue to plan for the good of the region.

Committee members said the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission has been functioning in the best interest of the region, was aware of the possible duplication problem, and intended to do something about it.

Teamsters Local 563 Is Challenged by New Organization

A representation election, stemming from a membership raid by one union on another, will be held for employees at the Appleton Disposal plant Feb. 9. The date and time, 3:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., was announced at Madison today by the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board.

There is some question as to how many employees will be eligible to vote in the election petitioned for by the newly-formed Local 73, Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO.

Teamsters Local 563 has been the bargaining agent for the plant employees in recent years. However, its representation is now being challenged by the new union, formed with the assistance of a plant foreman who has since left city employment.

In the balloting, the employees will first decide whether or not they wish to be a separate bargaining unit and be apart from any other city employees.

Three Choices

They will also be asked to designate whether they want Teamsters Local 563 to remain their agent; have Local 73 be the new bargaining representative or have no union at all.

About 10 employees, or less will be involved in the election.

Six Appleton Bridge Tenders May Get Raise

Appleton's six bridge tenders may be in line for a pay raise.

Increases were recommended Monday by the city council's street-sanitation committee during a meeting at the city hall.

If approved by the council Wednesday night, Appleton will be paying more in 1966 to open and lower bridges spanning the Fox River at Lawe and Oneida Streets.

Two bridgetenders now receiving $1,200 a season have been recommended for $1,500. Four others getting $1,915 are in James J. Reeb, slain in Selma, Ala., last march.

Johnson, 36, a Negro, begins his assignment this week in the Roxbury section of Boston, where Reeb formerly served.

Works for String Quartet Basis of Lawrence Concert

Three modern works for string quartet form the basis of a chamber music program to be given by the Fine Arts Quartet 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 3, at Harper Hall at Lawrence University.

The concert is part of the Lawrence chamber series.

Included are Five Movements for String Quartet, Opus 5, by Anton von Webern; Concertino for String Quartet, by Stravinsky; and Quartet in F Major, by Ravel. A fourth selection is the Quartet in C Major, K. 465, "Dissonance," by Mozart.

Heading the list is the Ravel quartet, composed in 1903 when he was 28 years of age, and dedicated to Ravel's teacher, Gabriel Faure.

A second work, von Webern's Five Movements, is a study in the technique of the variation form.

Stravinsky's Concertino was written in 1920 at the start of his so-called neo-classic period. Its regularity and formal structure is similar to the composer's Pulcinella ballet, his principal work at this time.

Accompanying the three 20th century scores is the Mozart quartet, the last of six composed and dedicated to Joseph Haydn in the years 1782-1785.

Thursday's program will be followed by a second Fine Arts Quartet appearance Mar. 31.

Make Up a Secret Language In a Form of Double Talk

BY CAPPY DICK

A secret language of your own invention, which only those who have the code can understand, is easy to make up and, of course, is fun to use. Let your best friend in on the secret and you can hold conversations anywhere you go, while no one else will understand what you are talking about.

The secret language will be a form of pig Latin. There are several ways to make it up, but you should choose a simple code that makes it possible to translate regular words into the secret language at a normal rate of conversation.

Perhaps the easiest way is to add a syllable to the end of each word. On the blackboard in the picture above are four such word endings, any one of which could be used as the key to your secret language. For example, you could choose to add "gren" to the end of each word. Thus, the question, "Can you come over to my house tonight?" would be said this way: "Can-doughnuts, pizza and other grengren yougren mygren housegren men and industry. A warming tonightgren."

Or you may add "gry" or "ible" to each word, or pro-bridge approach to permit nounce the alphabet in A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, O, P, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, X, Y, Z, and order at the ends of words. With warm up, the latter method, the question Money collected is divided would be translated this way: equally among the three com- "Can-A you-B come-C over-D to-munities and credited to the E my-F house-G tonight-H?"

Another code that's fun, but community.

Legion Members Collect $1,125 At Toll Bridge

KIMBERLY —Legionnaires from Kimberly, Little Chute and Combined Locks braved the sub-zero temperatures from 4 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday to conduct a March of Dimes toll bridge on the Community Bridge, their efforts resulting in an all-time record collection for the 11 years it has been in existence. A total of $1,125 was realized compared to last year's high of $1,059. Legion members, because of the weather and the shortage of half dollars, feared the effort might result in less money this year, but they commented, "it appears the word endings, any one of which could be used as the key to your secret language. For example, you could choose to add 'gren' to the end of each word. Thus, the question, 'Can you come over to my house tonight?' would be said this way: 'Can-doughnuts, pizza and other grengren yougren mygren housegren men and industry. A warming tonightgren.'"

Of the total collected, only 45 half dollars were found in the collection containers. Through-out the day volunteers were provided with hot coffee, rolls, doughnuts, pizza and other refreshments by area business-gren togren mygren housegren men and industry. A warming tonightgren."

Venturi Rallies To Edge Beard In Lucky Open

Ken Fires Closing Round of 66 for 1-Stroke Victory

By JACK STEVENSON
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —

Ken Venturi, the golfer who refuses to say quit, won the $37,000 Lucky International Open Golf Tournament with his heart across a lake.

His 66 over the Harding Park municipal course on Monday brought him the $3,300 first prize, his first victory since a circulatory ailment threatened his career late in 1964 after he had won the U. S. open title.

This was the course where Venturi had grown up, where his friends cheered him on and where his dad operates the pro shop.

Yet across Lake Merced is the Olympic club where the 1966 United States Open will be played in June, and Ken said, "I'm going to play a lot of rounds there, and I'm shooting for it. If I win it, I might just retire. That's my aim."

Venturi came back from a prolonged and agonizing slump to win the national title in 1964, but after the circulatory ailment attacked he collected just $295 in official money last year.

Skipped Crosby

Before the Lucky, he skipped the Bing Crosby tournament, fearing cold weather, but told friends, "I wanted to play in the Lucky because it's the tournament in my home town."

Carrying hand warmers to give him feeling when he swung the clubs, Venturi started four strokes off the pace and even with his 33 on the first nine was still four back of leader Frank Beard.

Then Beard faltered with three bogeys on the first four holes while Venturi shot even par to move within a stroke of the leader. Beard parred the 14th, but Venturi found the putting secret of the day to sink a 25-footer, and they were even. When Kenney sank a 10-foot birdie putt on the 16th he had the winning stroke.

Beard came in at 274. Arnold Palmer, 1965 champion George Archer, Tom Weiskopf and Ray Floyd all finished at 275 to collect $3,057.50 each.

Archer, a former San Francisco city champion, carded the best individual 18-hole round of the tournament with a 65.

Beard's 274 brought him the $4,600 second prize, yet he missed becoming the first golfer ever to score a wire-to-wire victory.

Venturi's 273 was just one stroke off the Lucky tournament record of 272 set by current U.S. open champion Gary Player in 1961. Now he heads for the Bob Hope tournament starting Wednesday in Palm Springs, Calif.

Wisconsin Blows Big Lead In Overtime Loss to OSU '5'

Cubs Assign Bonus Player To Quincy

CHICAGO (AP) — Catcher John Dudek of Chicago's Tuley High School was signed by the Chicago Cubs Monday for a substantial but undisclosed bonus.

Dudek, 18, the Cubs' No. 1 choice in the free agent draft last week, was assigned to Quincy, Ill., in the Midwest League.

Packers to Play Extra Exhibition Tilt in Milwaukee

GREEN BAY (AP) — Green Bay Packers season ticket holders will be receiving renewal cards in the mail shortly for 1966 home games both in Green Bay and Milwaukee.

Four of the National Football League home games will be played in Green Bay and three in Milwaukee. Another preseason exhibition game is scheduled this year in Milwaukee in addition to the annual Bishop's Charities game in Green Bay and the Shrine game in Milwaukee. Dates of the three exhibitions will be announced later.

Badgers Race to 43-27 Halftime Edge Only to Drop 87-81 Verdict

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Wisconsin wilted.

The Badgers had a 17-point lead. It vanished.

The Badgers were four ahead with half a minute to go. A bad pass forced an overtime.

The Badgers led at the start of the extra session—but never again.

Fumbles turned into frustration, then to felly, finally into utter failure as Wisconsin dropped an 87-81 overtime Big Ten basketball decision to Ohio State Monday night.

The Badgers fell into the Big Ten cellar. That, for a change, is certain to last for a while.

With Wisconsin scheduled for a five-day lull to relieve its lapses before tackling tough Michigan State on the Spartans' court Saturday.

Combine For 23 of 29

Dennis Sweeney, a junior, and Ken Barnes, the Badger captain, were restored to the starting lineup after a month on the bench, led Wisconsin into a 43-27 halftime lead.

Barnes added a free throw for a 44-27 spread to start the second half. Then the Buckeyes' Al Rowley, who didn't get a basket in the first half, tossed

San Francisco '5' Passes Bullets In Division Race

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors have just landed in second place in the Western Division of the National Basketball Association.

But it's lucky for them they aren't in the same division as the East's second-place Cincinnati Royals who test the West's new runners-up tonight in San Francisco.

If they were in the same division, the Warriors would be 11 games behind the Royals.

San Francisco moved past Baltimore into second place Monday night by thrashing the Bullets 131-113. Paul Neumann scored 16 points for the Warriors in the first six minutes of the fourth quarter and the Bullets fell 16 points behind, never to recover.

The victory, the Warriors' third straight, gave them a 25-30 season mark and moved them to 3½ games behind the Los Angeles Lakers.

Lawyers Claim NL Not Ignoring Court Order But Call It Unjustified

State Wins Advance In Trial Date for Anti-Trust Action

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Baseball lawyers say the National League isn't ignoring a Wisconsin court order. In fact, they say, they'll be trying to knock it out of the box later this week.

Bowie Kuhn, attorney for the National League, told Circuit Court Judge Elmer Roller Monday that his order was unjustified, was issued without a proper hearing and did not have "sufficient certainty and specificity for us to comply with it."

But, Kuhn said, the National League wasn't ignoring the order which directs it to prepare to field a baseball team in Milwaukee this spring, either the Atlanta-bound Braves or a still unborn expansion club.

Have Orders Vacated

Kuhn said the league will move later this week if possible, to have the order vacated.

But his remarks didn't stop the state from having a rhetorical field day at baseball's expense as it pressed for and won an advance in the trial date of its antitrust action against the game.

The trial, moved back last week to March 7, is now scheduled to begin Feb. 23 before Roller.

"The state finds it hard to believe," thundered William S. Stafford, special counsel, "that the National League, which takes such pains to present an Eagle Scout image of its ball players, would be so irresponsible as to flout a court order, truly it is in the character of the monopolistic men we are dealing with."

Meeting in New York

Stafford argued that baseball had won the original five-week delay in the trial because one of its lawyers had insisted that it would take a great deal of time to comply with Roller's order.

"At the same time these representations, or as they should be called misrepresentations, were being made in your chambers, the owners of the National League were meeting in New York City. Within hours of the time you had at their request delayed the trial, within hours, the National League owners virtually announced they had no intention of complying with your temporary orders," Stafford said.

Stafford said it was necessary

Bobcats Face Marquette '6' This Weekend

WATERLOO (AP) — The Waterloo Bobcats, who currently own a 6-13 record and are 7½ games back of Waterloo's front running Black Hawks, begin this project in Marquette, Michigan, Saturday night against the second-place Iron Rangers. They also oppose the Rangers on Marquette ice Sunday afternoon.

Reaching the break-even point promises to be an uphill battle for the Green Bay skaters, considering they must win seven of their last 11 games in order to attain .500 status.

After this weekend's invasion of Marquette, the Bobcats return to their Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena home for four straight appearances, two against Marquette Feb. 12-13 and two against Waterloo Feb. 19-20.

Two U. S. Rinks Stay Unbeaten In International Test

QUEBEC (AP) — Two U.S. rinks skipped by John Clauder of Wauwatosa, Wis., and Ken Moebius of the Milwaukee Curling Club remained undefeated following Monday's first and second rounds of the Quebec International Bontspiel.

Seven other U.S. rinks were eliminated from championship contention, but remain in the running for 13 other trophies.

A total of 128 rinks are competing in the weeklong tournament.

Won't Necessarily Handle Defense Backfield, Says Vince; New Foe Slated for 'Bishop's Tilt'

GREEN BAY — Vince Lombardi made two news announcements and accepted a trophy designating him as "sportsman of the year" at the weekly lunch son meeting of the Mike and Pen Club at the Stein Monday. Then hurried off to New York to delve into the formula for stocking the new Atlanta Falcons.

The Packer coach announced that (1) Jerome M. (Jerry) Burns, former head coach at the University of Iowa, has been hired to fill the vacancy created by the departure of Norb Hecker.

And (2) the Packers will play two pre-season games in Milwaukee and one in Green Bay in 1966 — the reverse of 1965.

The 54-year-old Burns, who quarterbacked Michigan's 1950 Rose Bowl team, will start work here Monday. He can coach all phases of the game and won't necessarily succeed Hecker as defensive backfield coach, Lombardi said.

Green Bay again will play host to the Bishop's Charities game and Milwaukee will again hold the Shrine classic in addition to a second pre-season battle. This will be Milwaukee's first shot at a 2-game pre-season schedule. Green Bay had two of them last year and sold out Lambeau Field (50,842) for each.

New Opponent

Lombardi said that dates and opponents for the three games will be announced later, but noted that the Giants would not be the Bishop's Charities game opponent. New York had been the opponent for that game since the Charities series started in 1961.

Renewal cards to season ticket holders for league games in Green Bay and Milwaukee are now being sent out and there will be no increase in prices except for approximately 200 children's seats which will be raised from 50 cents to $1. Lombardi said that "Our prices are now the lowest in the league. The $4 seat is undervalued by today's standards. However, there will be no increase."

The coach and general manager pointed out that "Atlanta has two prices, $10 and $6."

Despite the addition of Atlanta the league will continue with a 14-game schedule, with each team having an open date. Atlanta will play as a swing team, meeting each of the other 14 clubs once, and will be placed in the Eastern Division standings.

Under the new arrangements only one Packer game will be played against an Eastern division foe, not counting Atlanta. The remaining 12 Packer games will be home and home series against the six opponents in the West.

Burns has been in football since he left Michigan. He was born in Detroit Jan. 24, 1927 and starred as a back on the 395 points in the poll of 42 sports writers and sportscasters after team. After his graduation from defeating North Carolina State Michigan, Burns worked a year Saturday night for their 13th as backfield coach at the University of Hawaii and then moved on to Whittier, Calif., College for a season. He then coached three sports, including football, at Detroit St. Mary's High and became the area's prep coach of the year.

Chances Frosh

Burns went to Iowa in 1954 and started as freshman football coach. He became assistant backfield coach in 1955 and coached the backs from 1959 until he became head coach in 1961. He was fired shortly before the 1965 season ended.

Burns is married and has four

Burns Steps Up Instead Of Down

Packer Staff Has Produced 2 Head Coaches in Month

GREEN BAY (AP) — Jerry Burns, dismissed as head football coach at Iowa after five dismal seasons, has stepped up instead of down.

Burns was added Monday to the coaching staff of the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Football League three of the last five seasons.

It was a prestigious appointment to a staff that has produced two new head football coaches in the NFL within the last month.

Vince Lombardi, head coach, general manager and tactician taskmaster of the Packers, didn't specify what Burns would do, although it was expected he would take over defensive backfield duties.

Burns replaces Norb Hecker, who welded the stingiest pass defense unit in the NFL last season and was named last week as head coach of the new Atlanta Falcons.

Burns has stayed largely in seclusion at his home in Iowa City since he was fired in mid-November. He had no immediate comment.

Even Harder
Lombardi has a reputation for driving his staff even harder than he drives his players. Taking over at Green Bay in 1959 after the Packers' worst season in history, he put together a hard-picked staff and a team that has carved the best winning record in the NFL over the last six seasons.

Bill Austin, a graduate of Lombardi's staff who moved on to Los Angeles last year, was named recently as new head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers. Lombardi's ace defensive line coach, Phil Bengtson, reportedly had other offers dangled before him in the reshuffling of the NFL coaching lineup since the season ended.

Burns, a surprise choice, left Iowa after 12 years on the Hawkeye staff and five as head coach. His 1965 squad, a favorite for the Big Ten title, slumped to a 1-8 record and extended Iowa's conference losing string to 12 games.

Olympic Skating Layout to Be Ready for Fall Competition

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The nation's first 400-meter Olympic speed skating course is expected to be opened at the State Fair Park by Nov. 1.

Construction will begin this summer, it was announced Monday.

Braves' Trial Date Advanced

to obtain from the court "a meaningful and enforceable restraining order so that the state and the county can continue to enjoy the recreational and economic benefits of major league baseball in 1966."

Kuhn said he was "puzzled as to why the state was permitted to take its time as it sees fit and propel the defense to march into trial without any preparation of a defense."

"I have great difficulty in understanding why time is of the essence," he said, arguing that the state knew in late 1964 that the Braves planned to move to Atlanta, but waited until last summer to seek a court order to block the shift.

"Time Won't Run Out"
Stafford replied that "the state, under no circumstances will allow time to run out in this case."

If it does, he said, "baseball will win the case."

"There are not two sets of calendars, one for baseball people and one for the common people," Stafford argued. "These people are not golden . . . they have been on notice for three months in this court. We're prepared. They will never be prepared unless it's forced on them. This is a whole new experience for them."

If baseball wanted to save time, Stafford said, it could put baseball owners on the stand instead of using time to take depositions from them. The lawyer referred to the owners as "fugitives," drawing a retort from Kuhn.

Disputes Use of Phrase
Kuhn disputed the use of the phrase and said the owners would be "delighted to appear in any court at any time" provided they could without harassment.

Kuhn quoted a Milwaukee politician as saying baseball will be harassed into submission and said, "these threats have precluded a defense here."

Roller, in advancing the trial date one week (the state had asked for two) noted the arguments by defense attorney last week that his order would require a later trial start.

He avoided disclosing his reaction to the National League's reply to his order, saying only that it was "not my purpose today to punish the defense for failure to comply."

But, he said, "if the order was granted on the basis of a hypothesis that it would take time and it hasn't come to pass we are going to advance the trial date."

Attorneys Object
He did, and Kuhn and Earl Jinkinson, attorney for the Braves, objected. Jinkinson contended the advance in the date was prejudicial to the interests of my clients. He said it was "a hardship to be forced to trial at this early date."

Jinkinson later said he was not surprised by the ruling. "Not based on past experience. I'm not surprised," he said.
The next defense move is expected to be the attack on Roller's order of last week. Jinkinson said a motion to vacate the order would be filed with Roller "as soon as we can prepare a motion and a brief to support it."

Wirtz Reients, West Indian Laborers to Come to Florida

Labor Secretary Had Insisted on U. S. Help Until Cold Emergency

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of Labor Wirtz said today that he would be considerably less than in 1957, and there was no tree damage. Temperatures today ranged from 14 at Tallahassee to 47 at Key West. The low at Miami was 35 and at Miami Beach it was 37.

The temperature Monday dropped to 19 degrees near South Bay, on the southern shore of Lake Okeechobee, and extensive damage was reported there to young sugar cane and sweet corn.

Gov. Haydon Burns said he had granted Wirtz Monday's emergency approval of labor in Florida. Wirtz said he was greatly appreciated.

No Limit

Approval was quickly granted, and Burns said no limit was placed on the number of West Indian laborers who would be allowed to work in Florida.

This is most gratifying to our growers," said Robert W. Rutledge, executive vice president of Florida Citrus Mutual, the state's largest grower cooperative.

Rutledge said 1,500 West Indian workers probably would be in the groves by next Saturday and 3,000 may be needed. They will be flown in by chartered plane.

Dry, cold air spread frost over the entire state, forcing growers to begin to harvest millions of boxes of citrus immediately. The fruit must be gathered quickly after the frost, and growers say sufficient domestic labor is not available.

Grapefruit Unharvested

Rutledge estimated 15 million boxes of oranges and 43 million boxes of Valencia remain on the trees. About 20 million boxes of grapefruit have yet to be harvested.

Rutledge said there was no

Future of Drug Undetermined After Trial

Krebiozen Still Cannot be Sold Outside of Illinois

CHICAGO (AP) — The four chief supporters of Krebiozen have been acquitted, but what of the future of the drug?

The foreman of the jury which Monday acquitted Dr. Stevan Durovic, developer of Krebiozen, said the jury was convinced that the government had not proved Krebiozen was worthless.

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, internationally known physiologist who with two other defendants was acquitted Saturday, has called again for a government test of the substance.

In Washington, the Food and Drug Administration has reiterated its contention that Krebiozen is worthless in the treatment of cancer and cannot be sold interstate.

Defendants Cleared

The U.S. District Court jury acquitted Dr. Durovic, 60, and the Krebiozen Research Foundation, thus clearing all five defendants. The four men and the one of the nation's best-known multibillionaire was charged in a fraud and conspiracy in the sale and promotion of the drug.

The trial, the longest federal criminal trial in Chicago history, lasted nine months and three days and cost something between $350,000 and $3 million, depending on who made the estimate.

The jurors, seven women and five men, listened to 178 witnesses fill 22,000 pages of transcript which formed a stack seven feet high. They heard physicians and cancer patients testify to the worth or worthlessness of the drug.

38 Ballots

They deliberated for 47 hours and 30 minutes and took 38 ballots before acquitting the defendants.

The two other defendants are Marko Durovic, 64, a lawyer and Stevan's brother, and Dr. William F. P. Phillips, 52, a general practitioner who administered Krebiozen to cancer patients.

Adolph J. Beranek, 59, the jury foreman, said after the trial: "There was no proof that Krebiozen wasn't worth anything. Most of us felt it does have a value."

"This trial, I understand, cost over $1 million. I think the money could have been put to a better use, such as a laboratory test of the drug," he said.

The white-haired Dr. Ivy said a new test is the only way the drug's worth can be evaluated in cancer control.

"I intend to go back into research into the anticancer substance which I have been working on since 1917," Ivy said. "Krebiozen is such a substance, but I think there may be others."

John D. Jay Rockefeller IV Another Rockefeller Dives Into Politics, This One as a Democrat

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Another Rockefeller has entered politics — but in West Virginia of all places, and as a Democrat, of all things.

He is John D. (Jay) Rockefeller IV, great grandson of the empire builder and member of the one of the nation's best-known Republican families. Jay, whose multibillionaire father was charged in a fraud and conspiracy in the sale and promotion of the drug.

The trial, the longest federal criminal trial in Chicago history, lasted nine months and three days and cost something between $350,000 and $3 million, depending on who made the estimate.

Court Orders Settlement of Phone Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court directed a lower tribunal today to complete settlement of a controversy that involved $5 to $7 million in refunds to private leased wire telephone customers.

The Federal Communications Commission told the high court a formula for refund payments had been agreed upon by American Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the Bell System associated companies.

FCC in 1963 ordered rate cuts, but litigation in the U.S. Circuit Court in Chicago followed. The cuts were suspended for a year and higher rates remained in effect until the Circuit Court approved the lower ones.

The amount of money now involved was not stated in Supreme Court papers. The leased wires involved were operated by companies for their own use between offices in various parts of the country. Press association leased wires were not in the lower chamber.

Passerby Reports Robbery In Kenosha, Gunmen Seized

KENOSHA (AP) — Police Detectives said the two gun-seized three men in the $4,000 attempted holdup of a credit union Monday after a startled passerby walked in on the robbery and ran to a tavern a block away to sound the alarm.

Two gunmen were captured inside the credit union as squad cars of police converged on the place. The third man tried to flee, but slipped on ice and fell headlong into a snowbank.

The passerby disappeared in the excitement and was not identified.

Police withheld the names of the three men jailed pending filing of formal charges today. They said two of them, ages 23 and 35, were from Kenosha and the third, 38, was from Milwaukee.

It was the second robbery attempt in eight years at the American Motors Employee Credit Union and the second time police had captured suspects within 10 minutes.

Four-Foot Cover in Syracuse, Florida Recovering From Frost

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snowfall eased today in the big Eastern storm, but cold, gusty winds continued to pile drifts, bedeviling efforts to clear roads in smothered communities and a new storm spread 4 to 8 inches of snow northeastward out of the southern Plains.

Syracuse, N.Y., still was in the grip of blizzard snow squalls blowing off Lake Ontario. Four feet of snow covered some parts of the city.

The Weather Bureau said that the record January snowfall included 43 inches at Worcester, Mass., 41 inches at both Burlington, Vt., and Roanoke, Va., and 32 inches at Lynchburg, Va.

Florida recovered from its frost and freeze and mild weather pressed in from the Gulf of Mexico along the coast.

Statewide Emergencies

Statewide emergencies were declared for Pennsylvania and Delaware where hundreds of travelers and rural dwellers were still isolated by road blockages caused by drifts of 10 feet or more. In Virginia, the snow dunes were reported 15 feet high.

With communications hampered, there was no way of assessing the cost in lives or dollars of the January storm series. Death counts bogged as human attrition took many forms including fire fatalities, freezing, and heart attacks from snow removal exertion.

In Pennsylvania the highway department said that with 11,000 men engaged in snow clearance, the cost could run to $5 million.

The clean-up cost in Philadelphia, where 9 inches fell, was put at $500,000. In some localities, all except vital road clearings were put off until drifts, bedeviling efforts to clear roads in smothered communities and a new storm spread 4 to 8 inches of snow northeastward out of the southern Plains.

Hundreds of schools were closed Monday or Tuesday, not only in the hard-hit Eastern sector, but also in the path of a new storm from New Mexico to Missouri. In Maryland where all schools were shut, two colleges and the University of Maryland delayed registrations for the second semester until Wednesday or Thursday.

U.S. 40 was closed in some sections through Maryland, and hundreds of secondary roads were choked in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Fire flared at Belle, Mo., today when two gas pipelines exploded.

Food Stamp Program Approved for Five Wisconsin Counties

MADISON (AP) — Participation in the federal food stamp program has been approved for five Wisconsin counties, the State Public Welfare Department said Monday.

The counties named in an order by Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman are Burnett, Dunn, Pepin, Pierce and Waushara.

The stamp plan allows low-income families to stretch their food dollars through the purchase of discounted stamps, redeemable at retail stores. Only food commodities in surplus supply may be purchased with the stamps.

State Group to Control Task Force Expenses

Gov. Knowles Suggests Expenditure Budgets For Advisory Units on Special Assignments

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Gov. Warren P. Knowles Monday volunteered to close a loophole in his executive expense account arrangements by submitting the expenditure budgets of his special executive task forces and other committees to the control procedures applying to other state agencies.

The Republican governor suggested and the State Board of Government Operations, which is controlled by Democratic legislators, approved the preparation of regular budgets for advisory groups named by the governor for special assignments.

"Sum Sufficient"

Democratic legislators including Assemblyman George Mohr, chairman of the House, said they would keep the new rules effective for a while, but they also move to write them into statute law when the legislature reconvenes in regular session in May.

The incident resulted from an act of the 1965 legislature which granted the governor's office a "sum sufficient" for miscellaneous expenditures.

That means that the governor could, if he chose, spend unlimited amounts exclusive of salaries, upon his own request.

Knowles evidently determined that the system might open him to attack. Sen. Richard Zaborski, the Democratic state Senate floor leader, recently attacked the new financing arrangement in a speech.

The 1965 legislature also liberalized expense account arrangements for legislators to the extent that they are involved in legislative assignments outside their regular sessions. Yesterday Wayne McGowan, chief of the state bureau of finance, said there should be safeguards against the possibility that the state may one day have an "unscrupulous" governor.

Asks Safeguards

Later he said there should be safeguards also against the possibility that a legislator may one day file duplicate expense account claims, in the absence of regular control procedures over the committees on which he may serve.

The effect of the board's action Monday was to endorse a budget of about $10,000 for a water pollution task force of Wisconsin. Draeger served as named by Gov. Knowles and headed by John Potter of Port Union Electric Co. for five years and has been in the legislature in May, and another sum of $2,350 for another committee reviewing public assistance program modifications occasioned by the enactment of the federal medical care law.

Savings Bonds Top $4 Million In Valley Area

Sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in Outagamie, Winnebago, Waupaca and Calumet counties totaled $379,260 during the month of December, bringing the 1965 total to $4,151,029.

State figures totaled $7,620,610 during the month, an increase of 47 per cent over December, 1964. Wisconsin sales for the year amounted to $91,656,262, or 98.6 per cent of the Treasury Department quota.

Both Waupaca and Calumet Counties exceeded their goals for the year. Bert Ketter, chairman for Calumet County, reported sales of $276,407, or 106.1 per cent of its quota. Waupaca County Chairman Max Steig reported sales of $465,624, or 102.2 per cent of the goal.

Sales in Winnebago County amounted to $1,971,995, some 93 per cent of the goal, and Outagamie County had sales of $1,437,003, or 99 per cent of its goal. Leighton Hough is chairman for Winnebago County and Harold C. Adams heads Outagamie County.

There while the Apostolic Palace in Vatican City is being repaired, Vatican sources said today.

The repairs that are planned are so extensive that they might take years. It would be the first time in more than six centuries that a Roman Catholic pontiff lived in the ancient palace adjoining the Basilica of St. John Lateran, the Pope's see as bishop of Rome.

The Lateran Palace is in southern Rome nearly two miles from the Vatican City.

House Committee To Hear New GI Education Bill

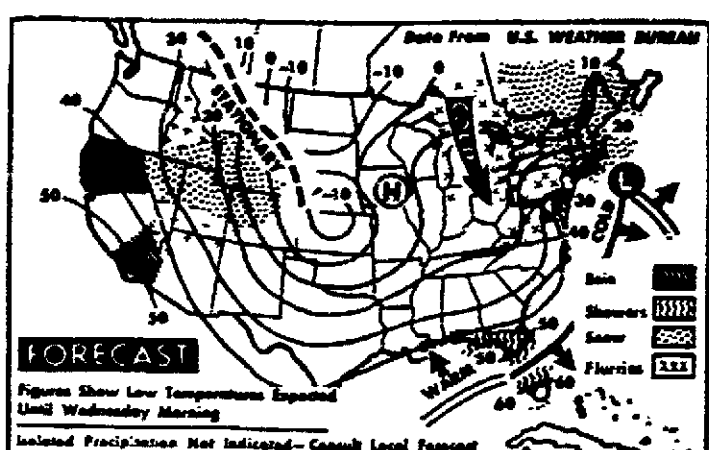

WASHINGTON (AP) — A comprehensive GI Bill setting up a permanent program of educational and other aid for all post-Korean War servicemen comes before the House Veterans Affairs Committee today. The committee already has held extensive hearings on the subject matter, Teague said. No additional hearings are necessary.

His bill would cost less than a similar measure passed last year by the Senate and differs from proposals reportedly supported by the administration.

U.S. Warplanes Continue Strikes In North Viet Nam

Allied Ground Forces Report

488 Viet Cong Killed in Operation

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. warplanes hammered at targets in North Viet Nam again today, while the American and Allied forces caught the Viet Cong in a giant vise along South Viet Nam's coastal plains and sent them sprawling into retreat after 488 were reported killed.

An Air Force spokesman said three American planes — one Air Force and two Navy jets — were lost in the first day of air attacks on the Communist North after the 37-day bombing pause. There were no details yet on the second day of the raids.

The pilots of the two Navy planes were rescued, but the pilot of an Air Force F105 Thunderchief was missing about 20 miles south of Vinh. He pulled into cloud cover and disappeared. Rescue efforts were called off after a search, the spokesman said.

Hanoi Claim
Radio Hanoi claimed Monday that North Vietnamese gunners had downed five American planes and damaged 19 others.

As U.S. Air Force and Navy carrier planes roared over the north again, the combined allied Operation Masher in the rice-fields and jungles 290 miles northeast of Saigon smashed at a large Viet Cong force from three sides. Some of the guerril-

Air Force Men Fly to Counter Squatter Band

Negro Group Spends Night on Inactive Military Base

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP) — The Air Force flew 100 officers and airmen into its deactivated Greenville base early today to counter an invasion by a band of Negro squatters.

"We will secure the base from further demonstrators," said Maj. George Hennrikus, an Air Force information officer. "Under no circumstances will our men be equipped with weapons."

The Negroes, along with a few white civil rights workers, camped around two pot-bellied stoves through the night in a determined bid to make their capture of an abandoned building force special antiproperty help from the federal government.

The Negroes said they were hungry and had no jobs or land.

Bolsters Staff

The Air Force contingent, flown in from five bases, bolstered Lt. Col. George Andrews, the only Air Force officer on the base, and his 27 civilians.

Most of the Air Force troops were air policemen. There were also some medical personnel.

Asked if the Air Force would use force in dealing with the squatters, Hennrikus said no men would be armed. "They will be equipped with billy clubs."

The band, chiefly Negroes, forced their way onto deactivated Greenville Air Force Base Monday despite the objections of civilian guards, who said later they were caught by surprise.

State Court Clarifies Rule On Warrants

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Supreme Court said today that its November decision stripping district attorneys of authority to issue warrants could not be applied to cases already "finalized."

The court issued its clarifying decision in two cases of original jurisdiction. It ordered two Milwaukee judges involved to proceed with suits in their courts—one criminal and one civil—under writs of mandamus issued by the high court.

The court ruled in November that warrants must be issued by "the equivalent of a neutral and detached magistrate." The decision reversed a ruling by Milwaukee County Judge William F. Moser in a paternity complaint by Willie Lee White.

Justice Horace Wilkie wrote both high court decisions and said:

"The basic purpose of the White ruling was to improve police practices and to assure that arrests will be made on a proper showing of probable cause as determined by an independent and impartial magistrate."

The agency for international development's program for economic aid next year also includes an estimated $344 million unspent from past appropriations. This would bring the economic figure to $2.81 billion — a quarter-billion increase over this year, counting Viet Nam both years.

Johnson's proposal for a five-year authorization is in line with Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright's call for long-term aid authority. The Arkansas Democrat also has pushed for a separation of economic and military aid legislation.

Weather Forecaster

She Watches Buffalo, Not Shy Groundhogs

CHIPPEWA FALLS (AP) — Tomorrow's groundhog day, and if your feelings about this winter's weather are such that you'd like to go with something that has a little more muscle than a scrawny woodchuck, take a tip from Mrs. Frank La Cour.

She watches buffalo.

Mrs. La Cour, a sprightly lady in her seventies, has found that year in and year out, groundhogs are a timorous lot likely to be afraid of their shadows, regardless of whether the weather is going to be fair or foul for the ensuing six weeks.

A genuine American bison

bull, on the other hand, is not likely to be cowed by the shadows of anything up to five fellows on horseback, and not then unless they're carrying bows and arrows.

Mrs. La Cour's system evolved with the development of a buffalo herd at Irvine Park, near her home. For eight years in a row, now, she says, when the animals come out into the open on a slope within her view, spring is on the way.

This year, however, it will take buffalos that are tall as well as brave. Snow drifts in the neighborhood still are up to three feet deep.

Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., left, Monday, after handing over a request from President Johnson for an urgent meeting of the Security Council on the Viet Nam conflict and to use its "immense prestige to find a prompt solution to it." Delivery of the request followed the President's nationwide broadcast. The session started this morning. (AP Wirephoto)

Await United Nations Debate

Fulbright Committee Won't Press LBJ Viet Nam Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright said today his Senate Foreign Relations Committee will not press its inquiries into President Johnson's Viet Nam policy until the United Nations has debated the administration's new peace effort.

"If this starts debate in the United Nations," the Arkansas Democrat said, "the administration should have full opportunity to submit its case."

But Fulbright, who wanted the administration to lengthen the now-shattered lull in bombing of North Viet Nam, said there remains "grave apprehension" in Congress about the air war and other facets of Johnson's policy.

Back Strikes

There was also substantial backing on Capitol Hill for Johnson's decision to loose new air strikes on the Communist North.

The Foreign Relations Committee, of which Fulbright is chairman, delayed today's scheduled return of Secretary of State Dean Rusk for renewed questioning about Southeast Asia.

Fulbright said he anticipates no new Viet Nam policy hearings until the end of U.N. debate on the peace conference call sounded at Johnson's order.

The Security Council meets today on a resolution presented by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, aimed at "a durable peace in Southeast Asia." It short three-hour session because calls for discussions among interested nations to point the way toward a peace conference, and employees.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States proposed today that North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam be invited to take part in U.N. discussions on a conference to seek peace in Viet Nam.

Police Fund Will Retain $337 Sent To Tippet Widow

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Board members of the Dallas Police-men's and Firemen's Welfare Fund have decided to keep $337.73 sent to the widow of Patrolman J. D. Tippet "until she asked for it."

Tippet was the policeman shot to death by Lee Harvey Oswald a few minutes after the assassin killed President John F. Kennedy Nov. 22, 1963.

Assistant City Auditor C. F. Craig said Monday that since disbursement of the Tippet money had to be done through court order, the fund would retain $337.73 until she "led for it or until it drops to where we ask the court to take it over."

Craig said Mrs. Tippet had received more than $650.00 from donors from all over the country.

Johnson Requests 5-Year Aid Okay

President's Message Seeks Split In Assistance to Foreign Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson asked Congress today for five-year authority for foreign aid and proposed that the global program be split into separate economic and arms aid bills.

In a special message seeking $3.39 billion in new aid funds for next year, Johnson also spelled out a $1-billion program of food, education and health assistance abroad.

"I propose that the United States offer to join in new attacks upon the root causes of world poverty," the President told the legislators.

"The incessant cycle of hunger, ignorance, and disease is the common blight of the developing world. This vicious pattern can be broken. It must be broken if democracy is to survive."

Johnson said the large-scale foreign aid program is necessary for the same reasons as his "Great Society" program inside the United States.

He said the aim is to improve "the kind of world our children will live in."

Reconciliation Planned

Actor Kills Rooney's Wife, Takes Own Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The police protection from his first planned reconciliation of Mickey Rooney and his fifth wife has resulted in her murder and the suicide of the young Yugoslav actor accused by Rooney of being her lover.

The bodies of Barbara Thomson Rooney, 29, and Miles Milosovic, 25, an actor known professionally as Miles Miles, were found Monday in the bathroom of the $150,000 Brentwood home Rooney once shared with his wife and four young children.

Police theorized that Milosovic shot Mrs. Rooney then turned the 38-caliber pistol on himself because she was planning to resume her marriage with the diminutive actor.

Under Sedation
Rooney himself was under sedation at St. John's Hospital in nearby Santa Monica, being treated for an intestinal infection acquired during filming in the Philippines.

Said Rooney's manager, Red Doff: "Mickey told me they'd (he and Barbara) had a very good talk and they were very close to reconciliation. I think Mickey may have resented it."

This apparently triggered the wife shut off the recorder when acts of violence by Milosovic, she began to succumb to his whose divorce wife had asked reasoning.

Rooney returned from the Philippine location in December to discover he had been rejected in his wife's affections by the handsome Milosovic, who had been a friend of the family for a year.

Filed Suit
A week ago Rooney filed suit for divorce, charging that his wife was allowing permissiveness, encouraging or harboring the Yugoslav actor at the Rooney home.

Rooney listed his income at $50,000 a year, and suggested monthly alimony of $400 and child support payments of $600 per month.

Mrs. Rooney countered with a suit for separate maintenance.

Last Sunday night, Rooney and his wife met in his hospital room. Unknown to him, she had hired a private detective to tape record their conversation.

The 45-year-old actor-comedian, once famed as Andy Hardy, was persuasive in his arguments for a reconciliation. His wife shut off the recorder when acts of violence by Milosovic, she began to succumb to his whose divorce wife had asked

Towns Group To Fight Laws On Annexation

Group's Newsletter Warns of Move to Enlarge Boundaries

MADISON — The Wisconsin Towns Association is preparing its political troops for another fight against annexation legislation that would make it easier for cities and villages to enlarge their boundaries.

The current association newsletter contains a warning from Ben Hanneman, manager and lobbyist of the association, apparently keyed to the scheduled return of the State Legislature to the capitol for renewed deliberation in the spring.

"Annexation is always a big trouble and the big boys again are trying to take the best part of the towns and annex them to a city," he wrote.

The association spokesman evidently referred to the fact that the Legislature has set up an interim study committee to consider problems of urban government and to make recommendations in several fields, including municipal annexation law.

The committee has elected as its chairman Assemblyman Earl Warren of Racine, a legislator who has espoused the urban point of view. Assemblyman Harold Clemens of Waukesha County, who led the urban problems committee in other interim periods, is the vice chairman. He has also been regarded as friendly to the city interest in legislative affairs.

The Warren committee will also review the possibilities of county consolidation and county government administration improvements, and non-property revenue sources for local governments, according to the line of discussion taken at its first meetings.

NEW LONDON — James F. Hutchison, 19, 319 Waupaca St., suffered multiple bruises when he was thrown from a car involved in a car-truck accident at Pearl Street and Wolf River Avenue 9:25 a.m. Sunday.

Hutchison was thrown from a car driven by Karen J. Eckhart, 22, 217 W. Spring St., and slid under the truck. The dual wheels of the truck narrowly missed passing over Hutchison, police said.

He was taken by city police to Community Hospital for examination and treatment.

City police said the truck, driven by Reginald J. Harris, 47, 661 W. Fulton St., Waupaca, was traveling west on Wolf River and the Eckhart car was traveling north on Pearl Street at the time of the collision.

Ice Jam Causes Problems to Kaukauna Firm

Roadway Flooding Due to High Water; Threatens Rail Bridge

KAUKAUNA — A combination of cold weather and high water is creating a problem for the Chicago and North Western Railway Co. and the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. at Kaukauna.

Ice is building up against the railway bridge forcing water to back up over the roadway adjacent to Thilmany plant. Railroad cars loaded with coal, and other heavy materials are standing on the bridge to provide more weight to the span, giving more resistance to the ice pressure.

Unsuccessful Attempt

Thilmany crews dumped gravel adjacent to the roadway over the weekend in an effort to provide a bulwark against the water. However, water is seeping through the gravel onto the roadway which has been closed to traffic.

A large crane was rented by Thilmany from Hennes Trucking Co. which is working with the crane owned by the railway company in an effort to break up the ice jam and keep the water flowing.

Freezeup against the bridge began Friday and reached the critical stage early today.

In keeping with the trend it's a start on another type of pieces of equipment at the home is the spot quartz ultra violet lamp which both prevents and cures decubitus ulcers, commonly known as bed sores.

Bedridden Patients

More than one-third of the patients at the home are bedridden and, before such equipment was available, bed sores were quite common. Periodic ultra violet treatment has reduced the occurrence considerably.

Other physical therapeutic treatments available include ultra sonic, galvanic and Faradic hydrocollator (moist heat pack), constant cervical traction and weights, and walkers. A set of parallel bars has been ordered and soon will be added to the program.

Madden and Dr. Thomas Loeschler, medical director of the hospital, developed the physical therapy department after study of the patients' needs last fall.

Madden, director of the physical therapy program at St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the past eight years, now visits the home twice a week to coordinate the program which is handled by Bruce Binder, a former orderly at the hospital.

Burying a Dead Red

The refusal of officials of Arlington National Cemetery to permit the interment of Robert Thompson a convicted Communist conspirator, is a reasonable one. Attorney General Nicholas Katzenbach ruled that Thompson's three year term for advocating the overthrow of the United States government and his four year term for running bail constituted a federal sentence of five years, which by army regulations bars anyone from burial in Arlington.

The regulations have now been changed to bar anyone who has violated subversive activities restrictions no matter how long or short a sentence. The change may not have been wise. It seems ridiculous to extend the honor open to the military and their families of burial in the national cemetery to those who have in any way tried to destroy the government. But such regulations have a way of backfiring. Thompson, for instance, was a World War II veteran decorated for bravery, who turned to Communism later. What will happen if an American dedicated to Communism or some other subversive activity later reforms and is killed defending his country?

Of even more interest, however, was the effort to have Thompson buried at Arlington. The action was pushed by his

Disarming Won't be Easy

It must be suspected that President Johnson's seven point proposal to the Disarmament Conference reconvening in Geneva is something of a diversionary action. Once more it puts the President of the United States on the side of all-out efforts for peace in the world as certainly he should be and sincerely is. But there are no signs that the new proposals will do much to put any chance of success in the conference's aim to halt the proliferation of nuclear weapons.

The President asked for a treaty by those countries which have nuclear weapons to stop the spread to non-nuclear nations. This is possible since those of us with the awesome destructive power of nuclear devices don't particularly want any more nations to control it. But there is nothing here to prevent nations which do want nuclear power to develop it themselves as both France and Red China did despite frowns from the United States and the Soviet Union.

In addition the President asked for international safeguards over peaceful nuclear activities, a strengthening of international security organizations and the establishment of a system of inspections. There should be an international agreement among nations with the power "not to increase, and indeed to reduce, nuclear materials in weapons stockpiles" and to freeze "offensive and defensive" strategic bombers and missiles designed to deliver nuclear bombs. Then the President proposed that nations should find ways to "limit competition among themselves for costly weapons often sought for reasons of illusory prestige."

The big hitch in these proposals is the Soviet refusal to allow any sort of inspection of Russian weapons, testing sites or stockpiles by anyone from outside of the Soviet Union. The Russians insist that

Dr. Ivy Acquitted

Friends of Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, the noted Chicago physiologist, will be happy over his acquittal by jury of charges of fraud and conspiracy in the lengthy and involved Krebiozen trial. But the public must be reminded that his acquittal and that of his partners in no sense constitutes an endorsement of Krebiozen as a drug which is effective in the control or cure of cancer.

Dr. Ivy himself was careful to make this point after the jury verdict came in. He called it "a great victory for freedom of medical research" and said he would continue his research on cancer, but as to the value of Krebiozen in the treatment of cancer, he said: "This controversy cannot be settled by the results of this verdict—it must be settled by the scientific method. What we must have is a cooperative clinical test by an arbitration-type committee. The basic issue here, the thing for which I've been fighting for 14 years, is that when an individual's work opens up a new substance, that substance should be investigated and not condemned without clinical testing."

Dr. Ivy's fine reputation as a physician was one of the important elements of the trial. He is a former vice-president of the widow who is naturally seeking to make political capital from the refusal. "Burying the ashes of my husband, a war hero, from Arlington Cemetery is an incredibly immoral and illegal act. The Pentagon has yielded to political ghoulies. Are they now saying that Arlington is only for political conformists?" This obviously ignores the fact that Thompson was convicted as a leading Communist conspirator who actively tried to sell out his country. But it bears out some sense of guilt about the whole business, the same type of reaction which author Rebecca West found in the World War II traitors whom she discussed in the meaning of treason. Trying to insist that their actions were really taken for the good of their nation, they managed only to appear inept or psychotic. And in near despair, they finally turned back to their home country.

There is a great deal of difference between political nonconformists and those who give a helping hand to another country while trying to undermine their own. Loyalty, to family, community and nation, is not to be taken lightly or casually tossed aside. While such actions really do far greater harm to the traitors, certainly there is no reason why the Department of Defense cannot bar them from Arlington Cemetery.

such inspection is merely a subterfuge for espionage and unwarranted interference with their domestic policies. Obviously an international agreement not to increase nuclear materials is completely useless without adequate inspection measures. The present agreement not to detonate nuclear devices in the atmosphere is possible without inspections only because such explosions can be detected by devices from outside the borders of the offending nation.

It is important that the proliferation of nuclear weapons be slowed down but the means for doing it are hard to find. A great many of the smaller nations do not want nuclear ability because they rightly fear it will make them more vulnerable to attack by a nuclear power. It is doubtful that there would be any sanctuary, even in such a country as Switzerland, in case of a war with nuclear weapons, but the hope of immunity does keep some nations from developing the power.

In others, however, such as India, there is pressure for such development because of the threat of attack by a nuclear power—Red China. Self-preservation is too strong a human and national characteristic to be set aside for the more vague consideration of the good of the entire world. There is danger, too, that some of the leaders of the more prestige-seeking nations such as Ghana or Guinea would like a nuclear bomb with which to impress their countrymen and their neighbors. But the costs, as well as the know-how, undoubtedly will prevent these dreams of glory.

Despite the hopes that some sort of binding agreement can be reached to slow down the various arms races and especially the nuclear proliferation, there has been no evidence that the Geneva Conference will be able to overcome the handicaps of Soviet intransigence.

University of Illinois and dean of its medical school. He is currently director of medical research at Roosevelt University in Chicago. But the federal government said Dr. Ivy used his international reputation as physiologist, medical researcher, author and teacher to support a fraud—the theory that Krebiozen could help control the growth of human cancer. It is of that charge that he was acquitted.

Dr. Ivy and his partners have had all the professional societies in the field lined up against them in judgment of the value of Krebiozen. Back in 1951 the American Medical Association declared that tests had failed to show that Krebiozen had any beneficial effects on cancer. In 1953 the National Cancer Institute reported Krebiozen was not an aid in combating the disease. The U. S. Public Health Service and the Food and Drug Administration echoed these findings.

But Dr. Ivy still claims these opinions were not based on any impartial clinical tests of the substance. Possibly his acquittal will clear the air sufficiently so that such tests may be undertaken. But in the meantime no one should interpret the jury decision as being of any medical value in judging the value of Krebiozen.

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Feb. 8, 1866.

During the past week Hon. Hiram Barney, T. J. James and James Gresser of New York, William S. Dawley, of Cincinnati, B. J. Stevens Esq., and J. D. Gurnee of Madison, J. Holmes of Portage, and Capt. J. H. Barker, have been staying in town at the McNeill House, in attendance upon the sale of the Fox and Wisconsin Improvement Company.

On the 2d, 3d and 5th days of February inst., the Fox and Wisconsin Improvement Property, including unsold large water powers, works, etc., were sold at the office of the company at the City Appleton to the holders of construction and state indebtedness (so-called) and certain cash subscribers to the purchase uniting with them, all represented at the purchase by Hon. Hiram Barney, of New York.

The amount of the purchase price was considerably over $400,000, and, we are informed, sufficient in amount to extinguish the constructive and State debt, and provide for the completion of the work according to the report of the Commissioners.

It is thought the works will be completed as contemplated by the Legislature without unnecessary delay.

Understanding – First in Home – Will Help With World Problems

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I heard it again today. "You just don't know how lucky you are to be a teen-ager. You don't have any problems at all." This was said by one of those older people called grownups. Well, I'm writing to inform you "grownups," that we teen-agers do have problems.

I just can't understand how adults could forget how it was when they were teen-agers, and what they went through. I don't know, maybe I have a limited intelligence, but I just don't see how you can forget so easily. Well, let me refresh your memory.

A teen-ager's life is a period of finding oneself. This is really quite a challenge because there are so many different people in one teen-ager. There's the one at home, the one at school, the one goofing off with the kids, and, oh, so many, many others. How are you supposed to tell which is the real you?

Then people give me this bit about "teeners today are so old." Look at the boy's hair, etc., etc., etc. What're they trying to do anyway? Well, I'll tell you. We are trying to change the world. Why? Well, who wouldn't after the mess our parents and grandparents made of it?

There are so few people in this world that really—I mean really—understand teen-agers. Some parents believe that teens don't want to be understood. Well, you are sadly

Lack of Opposition To Fairchild Measure Of His Court Stature

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
MADISON — The circumstance that Justice Thomas E. Fairchild of the State Supreme Court has been virtually re-elected because no candidate has filed against him for the spring ballot is not as some of the dispatches have suggested. It is true that in recent years incumbents seeking new terms

Republican nominee and winner was the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Fairchild launched his altogether brilliant career as a comparatively young man when the youthful former Progressives of his acquaintance had taken over control of the Democratic Party and persuaded him to accept the nomination for state attorney general in 1938. It was a gesture of loyalty to the cause rather than a serious hope of election. Democrats were not yet winning elections in Wisconsin in those times.

But with a distinguished family name and the lucky circumstance that the Republicans through inattention had nominated an unacceptable candidate, Fairchild won the election to one of the key state offices and established the basis for a public service career that has continued without serious challenge since.

Wyngaard have tended to have opposition, but in the whole history of the court the tradition has been to re-elect its judges as their terms expired.

Only three times in the history of the tribunal, as far as a brief inquiry shows, have incumbent judges been defeated in their re-election campaigns. But because two of them were rejected in contemporary times, the experience of Justice Fairchild got more notice last week than it would have in other periods of the state history.

The fact that the No. 2 man on the court at the age of 52 has been assured of a new term without the formality of a contest is a tribute to his stature, and is obviously a satisfying thing to him, nevertheless. As he no doubt knew, there were a couple of men in the Wisconsin bar who had briefly contemplated a challenge of his candidacy. But after surveying the outlook, they changed their minds. Running a statewide campaign in these times is not a task that a sensible man undertakes lightly.

THE STORY

In the universal view, Justice Fairchild has been a conscientious and able judge. Perhaps an indication of the esteem in which he has been held during his judicial career is the nearly forgotten fact that he started his public affairs experience as a vigorously partisan Democrat in some of the most bitterly fought election contests in modern Wisconsin history. He was the Democratic Party nominee for U.S. senator, for example, in 1952, when the

Learning How to Learn Important Thing Today

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS
If, this June, your son received a Ph.D. degree in aerospace engineering, half of what he knows when he graduates will be obsolete in 10 years. For fully half of what he needs to know for scientist nor a technician. Or that business schools, such as those at Harvard and Columbia, have shifted their emphasis from the technical aspects of business administration to a broader program of liberal arts.

In a recent talk, Dr. Arnold Ducoffe, director of Georgia Tech's School of Aerospace Engineering, remarked that this obsolescence of knowledge is the big reason that today's engineering schools no longer stress the "mechanical," but rather the "philosophical" elements in science—not how to do something, but why something is true. If we learn the reasons behind phenomena, then we can cope with changing conditions.

Our pressing need is for men and women who can adapt to needs and acquire skills that are barely on the horizon today. More and more, the function of the specialist is being taken over by the machines: it is the "generalist," who can make decisions based on an imaginative projection of the future, we so desperately require to keep the wheels turning.

In the past, the average man would change his job three times during his lifetime. In the future, we are told, the average man may have to change his vocation three times during his lifetime. Unless he learns how to learn, in a philosophical sense, the specialist may become a dropout from the economic community.

the next 10 years is completely unknown today.

This "obsolescence of knowledge," especially in scientific fields, is changing the whole idea of what constitutes a "good" college education. And it reaffirms those of us who have been saying for a long time that learning how to learn is the most important part of education.

The real reason that vocational and "specialist" training is largely pointless today lies in the rapid outdating of so much technical knowledge and skills. Even our newest professions—that of programming computers—will soon be obsolete, when the computers are built that will program themselves.

What the new society of the future calls for are versatility and flexibility and creativity. These cannot be learned in a technical sense; they are part of a liberal education, which teaches men and women how to think, not just how to put things together and make them work. The new machines will be able to put things together much better than people can.

It is no accident that, for the first time, the prestigious Massachusetts Institute of Technology has appointed a president who is neither a

Resumption of Bombing Bad News for All

Hawks Want Higher Level of Targets, Doves Liked Pause

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON, AP — Both the hawks and doves probably were dissatisfied with the way the air war against North Viet Nam was resumed.

The hawks wanted more of the level of the targets — to include industrial power plants, petroleum supplies and other Communist resources — including those around Hanoi and Haiphong, North Viet Nam's capital and chief port.

The doves wanted the bombing pause continued longer, perhaps indefinitely.

The first bombing strikes after a 10-day break for the peace offensive involved roughly the same order of targets and the same areas that were hit when the air war in the North began just south of a year ago.

The targets were bridges, warehouses, truck traffic and the like.

South of Hanoi

The area struck in the first post-pause attacks was far south of Hanoi, relatively near the boundary splitting Viet Nam into its Communist and non-Communist halves.

The proponents of escalation claim these objectives were hit repeatedly before the pause — and that the infiltration actually grew rather than diminished.

President Johnson indicated strongly Monday that bombing operations in the North will remain under tight control from the White House.

But by no means did Johnson foreclose the possibility that the United States may find it necessary to escalate the war by slamming targets which so far have been only nicked, or not struck at all.

There's a broad body of opinion in the military and in Congress which holds there is little sense in returning to the air war at the old stand.

Where It Hurts

Officers and congressmen holding this view argue that the only logical course now is to heap punishment on the Communists in North Viet Nam — to hit them where it really hurts.

As a counterweight to this, certain officials in the State Department reportedly have favored holding the bombing to a lower target level, strictly along the infiltration routes.

The terms hawk and dove actually are oversimplifications. There is a range of views in both general camps — varying degrees of hawkism and dovism.

For example, nobody could legitimately characterize any of the military chiefs as doves. Yet, there are divergencies among them on various aspects of the war.

Priority Assignments

Gen. John P. McConnell, the Air Force chief of staff, is understood to be eager to turn his B-52 heavy jet bombers against North Viet Nam. Other members of the Joint Chiefs would place priorities elsewhere.

To Adm. David L. McDonald, chief of naval operations, action against the port of Haiphong — the main intake of seaborne supplies from the Soviet Union — bulks perhaps more important.

In the war in South Viet Nam, Gen. Wallace M. Greene, the Marine commander, espouses a strategy of widening coastal enclosures to join them eventually into one long beachhead as a base of operations.

Gen. Harold K. Johnson, the Army chief of staff, prefers a strategy which involves blocking main Communist approaches from Cambodia and Laos and sending mobile forces around the country to find and fight Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops.

for $12.8 billion in Viet Nam military funds.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford both said Johnson had no choice, when his peace offensive failed, but resumption of air raids on North Viet Nam. Johnson's order ended a 37-day bombing pause.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who opposed resumption of the attacks, said it was not the President's fault peace efforts failed. His assistant, Sen. Russell B. Long, D-

La., said, "When you are in a fight, you do well to win it."

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said he was "particularly delighted that those of my colleagues who would have us withdraw or fight a war of attrition, that their counsel has not prevailed."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., said the President's decision was "based on urgent military considerations" and deserves the support of the people. He approved of the appeal to the United Nations.

No Alternative

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said there was no alternative to renewing air strikes.

"I only hope the military advantages gained by the Communists from the extended pause will not prove too costly in casualties to our forces," he said.

But Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said the resumption of bombing "is not a policy and we should not delude ourselves that it offers a painless method of winning the war." He said social and economic reform in South Viet Nam offers more hope of achieving this country's objectives than renewed bombing.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said the decision was Johnson's "to make as commander in chief, responsible for the safety of American military personnel in the field, and as the man with all of the current facts, military as well as diplomatic."

Sen. Edward Kennedy added, however, he believes the U.S. move in the United Nations will probably encounter more difficulty going than would have been the case had the bombing pause continued.

Former Gov. John W. Reynolds introduced the property tax relief program and the Legislature passed it in 1964. The program benefits those with annual incomes of less than $3,000 and tax credits are limited to a maximum of $225.

Richard G. Harvey Jr., of Racine, challenged the constitutionality of the act. In addition to violating the state's uniform taxation rule, he said, the program had proved "impractical, inefficient and unworkable."

$1 Million Paid

To support his contention, Harvey noted that $10.3 million a year had been appropriated to the program and that only about $1 million was paid out in the first year of its operation.

In the Supreme Court's unanimous decision upholding the validity of the act, Justice Nathan Heffernan said the program constituted a relief measure rather than a tax measure.

If the claimant does not in fact pay taxes, but instead pays rent, he is still entitled to relief," Heffernan wrote.

The justice added it would appear that the classification requiring special legislative treatment in the granting of relief to persons over 65 is reasonable. The age of 65 is commonly accepted and recognized as that at which a large number of persons retire and no longer in full measure are able to support themselves from current earnings.

While it is undoubtedly true that some persons under the age of 65 are equally deserving of relief, there are undoubtedly other devices by which the legislature has or could if it so desired, grant other forms of relief or assistance. The mere fact that the legislature in the exercise of a proper police power function has not seen fit to cure or attempt to alleviate all the evils of poverty in a single piece of legislation does not render the classification used unreasonable."

Milwaukee Seats Jury for Rights Trial

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A jury was seated Monday to try 11 civil rights demonstrators, including four clergymen, on disorderly conduct charges.

The 11 were arrested Dec. 6 after forming a human chain in front of the construction site of a school that civil rights leaders contend would contribute to de facto segregation.

Among the 11 is the Rev. James E. Groppi, 34, a Roman Catholic priest forbidden by the auxiliary bishop of the Milwaukee archdiocese to aid a civil rights boycott of public schools in a religious controversy last October.

The clergymen include one Catholic, one Episcopalian, one Methodist, and one Presbyterian.

Testimony in the trial was scheduled to begin today before a jury of 11 women and one man were seated on the jury.

"We are asking President Johnson whose side he is on — the poor people or the millionaires."

"We are here because we are hungry and cold and we have no jobs or land," the squatters said. "We don't want charity. We are willing to work for ourselves if given a chance."

Some of the Negroes claimed they were evicted from their homes by plantation owners but declined to give the names of the landowners.

During the cold night, the group huddled on the floor around coal-burning stoves. They had smashed out two windows and stuck stovepipes through them. A paper sign on one door said: "This is our home. Please knock before entering."

The first group to invade the base numbered about 35. They carried blankets and clothing. Later in the day about 15 others, including old women and small children, joined them. They identified themselves as the "Poor People's Conference."

fixed for immediate and unconditional discussions of arrangements for the proposed peace conference.

Soviet Moves

Both the U.S. request for the council meeting and the U.S. resolution caught U.N. diplomats by surprise. The corridors buzzed with speculation on possible Soviet moves. One unanswered question was whether the Russians would seek to have the government of North Viet Nam invited to take part in the council debate. Another was whether the Russians would veto the U.S. resolution.

The U.S. delegation was not expected to object if the council favored inviting North Viet Nam, but there was no word on the U.S. attitude toward a bid to the Viet Cong. The British government disclosed Monday night that North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh, in a message to Queen Elizabeth II last week, set as a new condition for peace talks U.S. recognition of the Viet Cong as "the sole genuine representative of the people of South Viet Nam."

No Right

Red China again rejected U.N. intervention in the Viet Nam war. Repeating Peking's often-stated position, the official New China News Agency said the United Nations "has no right to meddle with the Viet Nam question."

The first private reaction of U.N. diplomats to the U.S. proposal was one of doubt that the council debate would be useful. Some feared it would force the Soviet Union into taking a hard line and destroy any possibility of private Soviet pressure on Hanoi for peace.

U.S. officials, however, were aware of this risk and apparently believed the gamble was worth taking. They also were prepared to face strong criticism for resuming the bombing of North Viet Nam.

Policy Switch

The U.S. decision to bring the Viet Nam issue to the United Nations represented a switch in policy, and no immediate explanation was forthcoming from responsible officials. Only last week Goldberg went to considerable pains to explain to a group of congressmen that council action was not feasible.

Some U.N. diplomats believed the switch was motivated by a desire to neutralize the expected criticism in Congress over the end of the bombing lull. It also may have been sparked partly by the weekend peace appeal of Pope Paul VI, who suggested U.N. arbitration to end the war.

The main provision of the U.S. resolution provides that the council call for preparatory talks "among the appropriate interested governments to arrange a conference looking toward the application of the Geneva accords of 1954 and 1952 and the establishment of a durable peace in Southeast Asia."

Democrats Divided On Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen.

Gaylord Nelson called for "a searching inquiry" by Congress into the Viet Nam conflict Monday as Wisconsin Democrats were divided in their reaction to the President's orders for resumed bombing.

Nelson said he thought that "continued escalation of the Viet Nam war" through bombing of targets in North Viet Nam could result in a massive land war.

He said it would be "a grave mistake because of our frustration to broaden our commitment to an all-out land war on the Asian continent."

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki of Milwaukee backed the decision by the Johnson administration. Zablocki is chairman of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on the Far East and Pacific which deals with Vietnamese matters. He said:

"I was fully in accord with the decision that, as long as there was no evidence of willingness on the part of the Viet Cong and Hanoi to enter negotiations, there was no alternative but to resume bombing."

Prosecution Begins Mossler Trial in Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The state of Florida fires its opening shots today in the trial of Candace Mossler and her nephew, Melvin Lane Powers — the couple the state charges with carrying on a love affair that led to murder of her wealthy husband, Jacques Mossler.

The trial began before a jury of 12 men, three of them Negroes. The jurors were asked by Circuit Judge George Schulz not to watch television, listen to the radio or read newspaper accounts of the trial.

The judge also asked newsmen not to use the names and addresses of the jurors.

The first witness to be called was Dr. J. V. Handwerker, a doctor who was summoned in the early morning of June 30, 1964, to an apartment kept by the Mossler family on the resort-residential island of Key Biscayne off Miami.

Handwerker found the body of Mossler, 69, who had written a will leaving his wife a $28-million estate, lying under a blanket with a fractured skull and 39 knife wounds.

remain light, military spokesmen said, but the South Vietnamese suffered moderate losses. In their use of the term moderate, they mean anywhere from one-tenth to one-third of the total force involved.

A government spokesman said the Vietnamese troops have been in a half dozen fierce fire fights and while the number of dead is low, "the number of wounded is quite high."

Two new punishing actions against the insurgents opened up south of Saigon.

The Vietnamese 9th Division kicked off a regimental size search and destroy attack in Vinh Binh Province 62 miles southwest of Saigon Monday and reported 78 Viet Cong killed and eight captured.

A spokesman estimated that another 50 bodies were carried away by the retreating Viet Cong who left behind 31 weapons, including two East German machine guns and four Czech light automatic weapons.

South Korea was balking at sending additional troops to Viet Nam. Foreign Ministry sources in Seoul said the Koreans had informed the United States it could not accept its terms for sending additional troops to Southeast Asia.

President Does Better With Hard Facts of Problem

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's public "agonizing" over his decision whether to resume bombing of North Viet Nam is only emboldening Congressional critics who would bow to a display of the hard determination that Mr. Johnson is showing in private.

If the President himself gave a vivid public explanation why, for both military and political reasons, selective, non-population bombing must be resumed where it was left off on Christmas Eve, many critics of renewing the bombing might support him. Instead, the President has leaked stories from the White House about how agonizing and lonely it is to be President of the United States.

This was not the President who met Jan. 25 at the White House with the twenty leaders of the Senate and House, Democrats and Republicans. That President was self-assured, calm and filled with hard facts and figures, not tearing emotion about the hardships of the Presidency.

Visitors Impressed

Twenty leaders came in the White House back door that evening, and eighteen of them went out convinced that the President's case for resumed bombing was unassailable. It was, in the opinion of those present, one of Mr. Johnson's most impressive performances — indeed, one of the most masterful displays ever witnessed.

At the start, he delivered a brief, pungent history of the Vietnamese conflict and why the United States is there. This was followed by a detailed recital of the ebb and flow of the military action in the ground war south of the 17th parallel.

Mr. Johnson next produced irrefutable pieces of evidence to demonstrate how the Communists had used the bombing pause to increase the flow of their men and supplies down the Ho Chi Minh Trail into South Viet Nam.

The President pulled no punches, used no theatrics, appealed to no emotions. He was factual and detailed. And the case he made for the resumption of bombing — with vision Channel 55 in Milwaukee, out actually committing himself — was impressive. And then he turned to his peace offensive.

The Soviet Union, he said, wishes the Chicago Daily News, shown not the slightest disposition to intervene as a peace broker. Every diplomatic and political avenue had been explored with Moscow.

Here again, the President went into great detail. Those who listened were convinced nothing, not one scrap of information available to him was withheld from them. Robert McNamara and Dean Rusk, Secretaries of Defense and State, Presidential aide McGeorge Bundy and Central Intelligence Chief William F. (Red) Raborn filled in what chinks of detail the President left out.

And in conclusion, the President pointed his finger at the Congressional leaders, one by one, asking for their opinions. At some length, each of them responded — an unusual degree of participation for such White House meetings.

And all but two were convinced by the logic of the Presidential case that, when he orders the bombers to North Viet Nam, the order will be unavoidable.

The two who remained unconvinced, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Foreign Relations Committee Chairman William Fulbright, hold two of the highest positions in the Democratic hierarchy. But their arguments were chopped down by the power of the President's presentation.

The implications of that White House meeting: if the President lays out the facts, he stands to convince roughly the same ratio in all of Congress that he convinced in the White House Cabinet Room, or some 90 percent.

But by agonizing in public, he seeks to soften the peace bloc. But in fact, the delay has encouraged Congressmen and Senators, who oppose the resumption of bombing, to flood the White House with private letters, deliver speeches on the floor, and cite selective public opinion polls and letters from back home purporting to show that most Americans oppose more bombing.

Thus, the trouble Mr. Johnson is facing from the peace bloc on Capitol Hill is partly of his own making. For example, he might have avoided the embarrassing anti-bombing statement by 15 Democratic Senators.

Businessmen Willing Just to Skip February

Questions Abound In Production, Retail, Distribution

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — This February will start out with two strikes on it — and almost every February is a trying enough month for production, distribution and retail trade. Many businessmen would be perfectly willing just to skip it.

Weather often snarls industry and transportation and plays hob with store traffic. Retail trade usually is at a crawl anyway, being in the doldrums between the January clearance sales and the spring and Easter shopping promotions.

This February could be even more of a question mark — and a pain.

Face Uncertainty
For one thing, there's the uncertainty of what will happen in Viet Nam — and what that will do to government programs at home and to private business and consumer plans.

For another, there's the doubt raised by the new federal spending policies — more for both military and civilian programs — without any real certainty of steering clear of an inflation which could send the already fast rising cost of living on a real tear.

Then there's the untested new climate on the eve of prosperity's birthday. The last recession hit bottom in February 1961. This February the economy is due to get set for its sixth year of climb.

But suddenly the atmosphere is changed. Government officials talk more now of restraining speculation and inflation, where for five years they talked only of stimulating economic growth.

Labor Shortage
Businessmen talk now of shortages of skilled labor here and there, when a year ago they were talking of the hard core of unemployment — now pretty well dissolved.

Factory managers talk of shortages of some materials — and soaring prices — and of attempted price increases which the government won't allow.

February might also see the hardening of battle lines between the government and some union leaders over the wage guidelines. Washington wants to hold wage increases down to keep pushing prices up. Moreover union leaders contend the guidelines call for too small a wage hike. Many oppose the government trying to fix wage scales at all.

Business has been as restive under the price guidelines which Washington has used in some instances, although overlooking other price rises.

Consumer Whims
All of these doubts and disputes are coming to a head at a time when business has plenty of trouble just coping with the weather, seasonal slow-downs, and the uncertainties of preparing to meet consumer whims in the spring.

Also, for many a citizen is the current wonderment about what is going on down in Wall Street. When will the stock market get off dead center and start moving definitely one way or the other? And what is the meaning of all that heavy trading in a market without discernible trend?

Right now, your own guess seems to be as good as any.

Porter of not signing up before March 31. By last count, only 54 per cent of those eligible — 10,100,000 — had actually enrolled in the $3 a month voluntary doctor insurance program.

What are the consequences to you, the citizen aged 65 or over — or to your elderly relatives or friends — of not signing up for the voluntary doctor insurance plan in the immediate future?

Second of a Series

Won't be Eligible July 1
If you don't sign up in time, you will not be eligible for Medicare doctor bill payments beginning July 1 — basically, 80 per cent of your doctor, surgeon and other specialists' bills for services to you at home, in the hospital, clinic or nursing home.

If you were 65 or over before Jan. 1, you will forfeit the chance to enroll in the voluntary program until October, 1967, and the chance to receive any benefits until July, 1968. (For those reaching 65 on Jan. 1 or later, the 7-month enrollment period runs from three months before the month of your birthday until three months after it.)

You almost surely will forfeit the chance for any reasonably priced doctor bill insurance through private insurers, company health policies, etc. Virtually all policies now duplicating the forthcoming Medicare programs — probably including any plan in which you are now enrolled — will either be greatly modified to provide only coverage not offered by Medicare or, in some cases, will be cancelled altogether. Some insurance companies will offer the extra Medicare-plus coverage only to those who are enrolled in the Medicare voluntary doctor insurance plan.

3 Years to Enroll
If you fail to enroll by March 31, you will have to pay a 10 per cent higher premium for each year in which you fail to enroll. You have only three years in which to enroll at all.

If you insist on private doctor insurance instead of the Medicare plan, you'll pay heavily for it. It's a virtual certainty that the policy would have to be drawn up for you — and the individual elderly citizen — and you would not get the financial advantages of risk-spreading or the group policy. You also must make sure your insurer will actually be offering such individual policies.

If you sign up, though, you'll get an unprecedented bargain insurance rate. It's estimated that a private insurer would charge at least $18 a month to provide the entire Medicare hospital and voluntary doctor insurance package — of which $6 would be for the doctor insurance alone. You, of course, pay nothing for the hospital part of the plan, and only $3 a month for the doctor insurance plan — a sum matched by a federal government contribution.

Ask Questions Now
If you postpone enrollment until the final month — March — you might have to face a maddening crush at the Social Security office to get answers to any questions you have. The jam is expected to start in early March and to reach high proportions soon after. If you have questions, ask them NOW at the Social Security office.

What are the odds that the March 31 deadline will be extended? It is not out of the

Parents' World Adopted Girl's Background May Cause Misunderstanding

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: Can anyone help me? I'm exhausted. I adopted a girl when she was nine years old. Her mother was no good. She was dirty and cheap and she gave away five other children. When I took this girl she had no clothes and hadn't ever taken a bath and that I give up many things for myself to take care of her? MRS. P.L.

Almost every child has to be reminded to straighten up messes and it isn't uncommon for a teenager to feel mistreated and misunderstood. But matters in your household are complicated by your inability to forgive this girl's background.

Obviously, you have great contempt for her beginnings, and you're letting your contempt prevent you from helping her sort out her confusion about her background so she can retain whatever love she has for her mother while rejecting the standards leading to the kinds of discomfort she lived with during her first nine years.

The extent of your sacrifice isn't your adopted daughter's concern, so stop trying to appeal to her gratitude rather than to her affection. You have a tough job to do, so don't let such mistakes make it harder. If you can't correct your attitudes by yourself, ask for help from the family treatment service whose name and address are being sent to you.

DEAR DR. JONES: What can I do to control my daughter, 15 months old? When I spank her, even lightly, she breaks out in a rash on the spot and she scratches it until it bleeds. She's very strong willed and cries over everything when she doesn't get her way, so I need some way to stop her. MRS. B.R.

What's wrong with telling her you're sorry she's unhappy, then letting her cry if you can't divert her attention? If you aren't asking the wrong things of her and if you're giving her the right kinds of freedom, she isn't likely to be

Now she is 15 years old. Up to today, I still have to keep after her to make her take a bath and keep her room straight, otherwise she wouldn't. She ran away for a whole day last week and told the police who found her that she was being mistreated, but that isn't true. She doesn't have to help me in the house except to wash the dishes. What can I do to make her see

It's plain common sense. If you intend to sign up for Medicare's voluntary doctor insurance — as employers, private insurers and physicians the nation over are now urging — do so at once.

Note: If you change your mind about a "yes" decision on the doctor insurance plan, you can still pull out any time before July 1. But a "no" decision can't be changed after March 31.

that a plus is better than a minus score and that sometimes you must sacrifice your high cards for the sake of the partnership.

West opened the queen of hearts, and East properly "wasted" his king by playing it at once.

If East unwisely played the deuce of hearts at the first trick, South would play low. West would lead another heart. East would have to play the king, and South would again play low. East would have to shift to another suit, whereupon South would give up a diamond trick and make game with four diamonds, one heart and two tricks in each black suit.

Actually, as we have seen, East played the king of hearts at the first trick, and South played low. East got out by leading his other heart, and South played low again. This time South was wrong.

UNBLOCKS
West won the second heart trick and led a third heart to force out the ace. On this trick East cleverly discarded the queen of diamonds.

Now if South tried to develop the diamonds he would have to give the lead to West, whereupon the rest of the hearts would defeat him. If South tried to develop spades or clubs, he would run into equally bad luck.

South should win the second heart, enter dummy with a spade and lead a diamond through East. If East plays the queen, South plays low to make sure of losing the diamond trick to East rather than to West.

If East plays a low diamond, with a club to lead the other diamond through East. No matter what East does, South gives him a trick with the queen of diamonds and thus safely develops nine tricks.

DAILY QUESTION
Partner opens with one heart and the next player passes. You hold: S 9 4 2; H Q J 10 9 5; D J 10 6; C 9 8. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts. You have only 4 points in high cards, and 1 point for the doubton, but the hand is worth a raise because of the unusually good trump support. However, do not make the mistake of the State of New York suggests you do not sign the contract.

until the dealer also counter-signs. If this can't be done at the time you're ready to buy, arrange to come back to the new car? It's a fine proud can sign. Unless this precaution is taken, an unethical dealer can choose from, you need to do use any one of several methods to increase the selling price of the car — above the price for husband and wife to get into originally quoted you. For an argument, I say this is the case of a buyer who signed a contract for before you start looking — a new car at $3,000 — but after which new car and why? What the dealer had counter-signed do you want, versus what do later, the car cost him $3,300.

Too often, The Better Business Bureau says, the customer pays the extra. If he refuses, he has to complain so loudly he's continuing satisfaction for our released from the contract. If money, a compact, an intermediate-sized car should happen to you, be a six or eight cylinder; Better Business Bureau in your wagon for about $300 more than the same car in a sedan size?

Think about the extras, too — especially the ones which are functional and relatively inexpensive when installed at the factory. For instance a more powerful battery at an $8 expense, which could prove an asset in winter driving around rolling and hilly country, a heavy-duty clutch for standard transmissions which might cost you an extra $12 but might prove well worth it; safety features such as back-up lights, padded visor and dashboard, an outside mirror on the driver's left, seat belts for the back seat and windshield washers.

Get Dealer's Signature
When the two of you have finally come to an agreement on what you're going to buy, there's another vital step to consider. How are you going to buy it?

There are some pitfalls for the first-time shopper, and even the second and third-time shopper. Read your sales contract carefully. It will have space for three signatures — yours, that of the salesman and that of the dealer.

Note the provision in the contract that says it is not binding until the deal has been approved by an officer or authorized representative of the company with which you're negotiating — in addition to the approval of the salesman who takes the order.

To protect your rights, the Consumer Frauds Division of the State of New York suggests you do not sign the contract

Watch That Trade-In
If you have a car to trade in on a new-car purchase, be alert to a possible unethical trap. Some dealers will give you a factitious trade-in price on your old car — subject to "reappraisal" at the time of delivery. The contract says on the back page that the dealer has the right to re-appraise it five to six weeks later, or when you receive delivery of your new car. But assuming your car is in the same condition as when first appraised, he has no right to alter the trade-in price. To avoid any such "misunderstanding" have this clause eliminated or have written on the front of the contract that the re-evaluation of your trade-in car will not be altered, provided your car has not been in an accident. The "no money down" arrangement some dealers promote might have appeal to you. Although this is more often a practice where used cars are concerned, it's also used on some new cars. Such an offer may not be as simple as it sounds. If you're young, with not much job experience or established credit, you'll find it difficult to avoid having to obtain a separate "second loan" to cover the cost of the normal down payment of 20 to 25 per cent — usually necessary for further financing a car.
